Community Players, Now 44, Fear Mounting Financial Crisis May Bring the Curtain Down

Stage dark, house lights out and dusty, costumes limp on the racks...?

"Princeton Community Players is 44 years old. At the moment, it looks doubtful that we'll reach 50."

Bleak words, but understandably pessimistic ones in light of the Players' current financial situation. They were spoken this week by Judith Forusz, Players' president, and echoed sadly by Liz Fillo, singer and entertainer who has found new depths in her own career through the Players, and can't bear to see them close the house.

Princeton Community Players was founded in 1933. It has, like some periled Pauline, been rescued from crisis after financial crisis, but has always pulled through at the last moment, in fine last-act style.

This time, the Players hope they'll be rescued through a fund drive, the first in what will probably be an annual series. Letters will go out within the next few weeks.

"If 100 people would just give us $25 each!" Mrs. Forusz exclaims.

It's no secret that the Players' bank account has only about $4,000 left. Rent of the 171 Broadmead theatre, with its miniscule 90-seat "auditorium," is $3,000 a year. The landlord is Princeton University. The Players are now in their third season there.

The Players have no private funding and must rely entirely on box-office receipts, membership dues---have been $5, are going up to $10---and what money is left from the sale of the Players' former home, "Avalon," to the YM-YWCA for construction of the present "Y" building. That money is the $4,000.

A nice boost to Players' morale came this week with the announcement that the Open Air Theatre in Washington Crossing has included the Players' production of "Oliver!" in this summer's program.

Players' officers have been negotiating for two years with Open Air people, hoping for a spot in the Open Air schedule. But Mrs. Forusz, a stage director with a feel for realism, points out that the Players could lose money on "Oliver!," God forbid. It will play August 18-20 and 25-27.

"The success of McCarter has hurt us," Mrs. Fillo continues, frankly. "It's the socially acceptable thing to contribute to McCarter. It's fun to hunt through that long list of names in the program for people you know--and find your own name there, too!"

"You see, we used to be the only show in town! Now, there's McCarter Theatre and Summer Intime, Street Theatre, the Open Air Theatre..."

"A $25 contribution means a lot more to the Players than it does to McCarter," Mrs. Fillo says firmly. "I like to say that McCarter is 'for' the community, but the Players are 'of' the community."

Liz Fillo, herself a performer, sees the Players as the only place where "local thespians can get up there and do their thing."

Local thespians showed up, 40 of them, to try out for "Dames at Sea," a figure regarded as astonishingly high, considering the special requirements--tap-dancing, for example--of the musical. For the current "Gamma Rays," which has only four parts, 43 tried out. A similar number wanted a part in "Bus Stop."

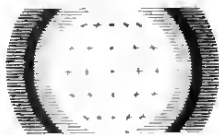

But productions like "Dames at Sea" are expensive. Royalties are exceptionally high for musicals and must be paid in advance. The show was a splendid success, but with a 90-seat house, even capacity houses are small houses. And the Players do not want to raise ticket prices.

The Players aren't complaining about the Broadmead location. After barnstorming around--in the place where the Ballet Society now is, the Unitarian Church--it's good to have your own place. As a performer, Mrs. Fillo speaks feelingly of getting to know a stage during rehearsals until "it's like your own living-room," not moving on to a strange stage the last week of rehearsals.

But Broadmead, in addition to its steep rent, has no air-conditioning, so

WHO DREW UP THE GUEST LIST? Hard to tell, from the look of the gathering. These seven---er---people are said to be making plans for the Arts Council's annual community spring party, which will be a kite-flying picnic May 7. In case you're curious, (and this group most certainly is) that's Robert Denby on the far left dressed as a jester, sort of. Next, Caren Sturges, then folk-singer Carolyn Moseley who wanted to show she could play her guitar wearing white gloves, Phil Holt with his usual monocle and top hat, Anne Reeves in feathered toque and mandolin, Pierre Coutin lost from an Ingmar Bergman film, and Betty Ruth Curtiss. Photographer Robert Denby took advantage of the self-timer on his camera.

Think Spring, Arts Council Says, Making Plans For "Come Fly a Kite Day" at Battlefield Park

With a kite or two in hand, go out to the high, fine breeze blowing across Princeton Battlefield on May 7, and take a flyer.

You'll have lots of company because that's the "Come Fly a Kite Day" set aside by the Princeton Arts Council. Every year it's a new theme, every year it's a different place for this annual community picnic and festivity.

This year, something new has been added. There will be a second community day early in the fall, when arts and crafts by students in Princeton schools will be on display. Professionals will show their skills, too, and the student work will be for sale. This second day is not only fun, but necessary: you can't sell things on the state-owned Battlefield.

But May 7 comes first. It's a Saturday---a sunny, breezy one, naturally. (In the unlikely event of rain, the "Come Fly a Kite" day will be Sunday.) The art and craft of the kite will be displayed, live.

Before the picnic, the Arts Council will hold a kite-building workshop (date to be announced) so you can learn to build one that will fly, before the actual flying day.

Myriad Uses. "Kites are very important," declared Arts Council President Anne Reeves, winding an impressive box kite in from the blue. "Benjamin Franklin drew electricity to earth with one. They've been used as signals in war-time, and for understanding air currents. The Chinese say that the soul goes to heaven on a kite and the one that flies highest, will bring the most prosperity."

"At one time, the Emperor of China had to forbid kite-flying because people were so anxious to be prosperous they spent all their time making high-flying kites and weren't tilling the land."

But back to Princeton Battlefield.

The Arts Council hopes to reel in engineering and architecture students from the University, pointing out how exhilarating it would be to design some very dazzling kite.

"We want to encourage science classes in the schools, too," Mrs. Reeves says. "...and poets! What wonderful poetry somebody could write, about the wind and a kite!"

Organizations like the newspaper Helikon, Creative Theatre, Community Players, companies in the area and individuals are all invited to participate in their own ways.

The Institute for Advanced Study will be tapped for all its visitors from abroad. Perhaps somewhere besides China there are people who would rather fly a kite than push a plow.

For the Winners. Awards, of course. Mrs. Reeves dislikes the word "prizes," but you get the idea. For the smallest---perhaps attached to your little finger, and sailing in the breeze on the most gossamer of threads. For the most beautiful. For the biggest. For the highest-flying...

In advance of May 7, the Princeton Public Library will do a window on kites, so you can see the difference between a box kite and a sled kite, a tetrahedron and a traditional kite. Books inside will show you how to make and fly any of these.

This Is PRINCETON

"I hope we can use recyclables," Mrs. Reeves says, adding mysteriously that she and kite-day chairman Pierre Coutin have been conferring with "kite people" who know all about kites. Some live distant from Princeton, but she'd like to find experts right here.

A festive balloon is almost a necessity, and Mrs. Reeves thinks she can find one. She recalls that last year, when the spring community festival was held down by the lake, a helium-filled balloon with bamboo rods was launched into the sky. Nobody is quite sure where it ended up---Hackensack?---but Mrs. Reeves is convinced it made it all the way to England.

Community Players

that the season must end earlier than the Players would like. "It was 98 in there when we were rehearsing 'U.S.A.'," Mrs. Fillo recalls, with feeling.

And, although the Players have had to install special wiring because the old, former Princeton Country Day School classroom had not been used as a theatre before, they hesitate to make permanent alterations in a place not their own.

Long-range, the solution seems to be a community theatre which could embrace not only the Players, but the Princeton Opera Association, the Princeton Ballet Society, perhaps Creative Theatre.

The Players approached Princeton's Recreation Department, but were too late to be considered for inclusion in their budget. Mrs. Forusz points out that Hamilton Township's community theatre group is in that community's recreation department.

"Who is to support us if the community does not?" she exclaims.

Devotion Runs High. Support from Players themselves for their group has always been loyal and staunch, with a sturdy core of devoted and selfless workers. Comments about the social cachet of a contribution to McCarter sound an amusingly ironic note, coming from today's Players officers because in their early years, the Players were definitely from the upper social and economic strata of the Princeton community.

"Yes, it used to be thought of as a closed little group," Mrs. Forusz concedes, "but that is clearly not so any longer. We're a real mixed bag, with members from all the surrounding towns. Only Pennington and Hamilton have community theatres, so we're the one."

"The new pediatrician in town played in 'Bus Stop.' We have a commuter to Philadelphia who teaches neurological anatomy. He teaches tomorrow's brain surgeons and today, he works our lighting board! We have a seventh-grader from John Witherspoon in 'Gamma Rays.' A person like that can be acting with somebody who's maybe 70."

For Beginners, Too. "You can come in with zilch experience and learn acting or tech," Mrs. Fillo says. "I am a singer and I was terrified of acting. But I took a Players' workshop in '71 with Ed Earle and he gave me confidence! Yes, McCarter is wonderful and we're lucky to have it, but I couldn't have had that experience if McCarter were the only show in town."

Herbert McNeny, a founding member of the Players (he used to teach English in the lecture hall that is now the Players' theatre), emphasizes the help given to the community over the years by the Players.

"During the war, we gave benefits for Polish and British war relief," he recalls. "I remember at least two big souvenir programs with thousands of ads, for the benefit of the hospital - that was before United Fund days - and we gave benefits for the public library, too."

"If you've done theatre in school or college and want to get back in, if you've never done theatre but think you'd like to try, come on!" Mrs. Forusz says, "and if you'd like to help us meet our goal of raising the rent - I mean the Players' raising the rent, not the University! - send us $25."

FAKE $20 BILLS PASSED

At Princeton Shopping Center. Check all your bills, especially $20's, is the message Township police have for merchants to the Princeton Shopping Center after two stores there last week reported receiving counterfeit $20 bills.

Two bogus $20's were passed at Thrift Drug Store between 11 and 6 Saturday. The same day, a bookkeeper at Kresge's discovered three bogus $20's by feel when counting money in the afternoon. All five bore the same serial number: B48793108E.

Other merchants in the Center were notified to be on the alert. Asked if the counterfeit bills were of professional quality, Chief Frederick Porter, who said he had not seen them, commented that "apparently they were good enough to get by."

TWO BICYCLES STOLEN

From Kopp's Cycle Shop. Two 10-speed bicycles with a combined value of approximately $300 were stolen Sunday.

A Palmer Square resident called police at 6:39 p.m. to report seeing two teenage boys break a glass in the front door, open the door, grab the bikes and ride off toward Hulfish Street.

Borough police, aided by the Township, sped to the scene but were unable to locate the suspects or the missing bicycles. Police notified the owner, Fred Kuhn, who reported that a green Varsity model valued at $138 and a more expensive Continental model were missing.

Police also report that three bicycles were stolen early Tuesday morning from the 100 Stockton Street resident building of the Theological Seminary. Chains to the bicycles had been cut, they said.

Mailbox Stolen. The mailbox of David T. Harrje, 24 Autumn Hill Road, was stolen between 7 Saturday morning and 8:30 the following morning. Containing approximately 10 pieces of mail, it was later found in the roadway at the intersection of Herrontown Road and Snowden Lane.

According to police, the thief opened one piece of mail and threw the rest in the roadway at the intersection of Autumn Hill and Herrontown. The Princeton Post Office was notified of the incident.

Opinions to Be Sought on Goals for Schools

You're invited to go to any of Princeton's six public schools next Wednesday, March 9, at 8 p.m., and tell the District Committee for Goal Development what you think the goals of the Princeton school system should be.

Within a few days, every Borough and Township household will receive a questionnaire on goals. The committee would like to have you fill it out and take it to one of Wednesday's meetings. If you can't attend on Wednesday, you will be asked to fill out the questionnaire and send it in, using a pre-paid addressed envelope enclosed for your convenience.

The goals committee consists of parents, Township-Borough appointees, staff and students of the schools. It was established last fall under New Jersey's "Thorough and Efficient Education Act," which requires that citizens of each school district participate directly in establishing written educational goals. These goals can then serve as a base for planning and developing a curriculum.

The two-part questionnaire asks you to check whether you "strongly agree," "moderately agree," "moderately disagree," "strongly disagree" or have "no opinion" on 23 statements. There is also space to list other things that have occurred to you.

A list of 16 things that "each child should," includes acquiring competence in reading, writing, speaking and listening to English, acquiring a sound knowledge of the world through the study of the physical and biological sciences and math. Enjoyment in learning, developing physical skills, becoming knowledgeable about consumer products, learning history, acquiring understanding of all kinds of people are among the "shoulds" you will be asked to give an opinion on.

The second part asks whether you think the school district should adopt expectations for skills for each grade level, supplementing minimum expectations according to "teachers' strengths and students' needs."

Providing programs for students with special needs, trying for maximum involvement of all citizens, providing challenging work for students and assembling a competent staff are other questions set down for your comment.

In the "others" column, you are invited to add to these lists whatever you think has been left out, and to comment on the goals committee's lists in any way you choose.

The committee also asks whether you have a child in public or private school, pre-school children or post-school children or no children at all.

If you cannot attend the meetings, you should return your completed questionnaire no later than Friday, March 18.

On the basis of reactions to the proposed goal statements, the goals committee will prepare a revised statement of goals to submit to the school board.

Additional copies of the questionnaire will be available at the meetings, or in the Valley Road administration building, or by request from 924-5600.

WILLIAM STREET FUTURE
University Asks Variance. Princeton University thinks William Street will look better if the new biochemistry addition to Frick is lined up with the present Frick building and the University Press building at William's opposite end.

"The street-scene would then have continuity," commented Jon Hlafter, director of the University's office of physical planning, as the University presented its case before the Planning Board Tuesday night, asking for a setback variance. The building would be 15 feet from William if the variance is granted, 38 feet if it must be built according to zoning or ordinance regulations.

The University is also seeking Planning Board approval of its site plans. The site plan review committee recommended Planning Board approval.

The six William Street houses that will be displaced by the new lab weren't included in the University's presentation, Mr. Hlafter explained, because displacing them can be done as a "right."

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, at his Tuesday morning press conference, asked rhetorically, "Does the Planning Board have the legal powers to consider the loss of these houses?"

Construction of the new lab near the Guyot-Moffat labs would be impractical, Mr. Hlafter said, because it's the Moffat labs that most need to be replaced. He emphasized that while the new lab has

"It's hard," the mayor continued, "to make a fuss about every house the University removes, unless you have the power to stop it, as we did have the power to keep the Mershon house from being converted to office use."

"Otherwise, we can use only moral suasion," he said. "The fact that the University is moving four of the houses indicates University sensitivity in the matter."

The University seemed to saying this week that it will move four of the six houses to land it owns on Faculty Road near Broadmead. This would mean keeping the houses as University residences.

Housing Group Opposed. The Princeton Housing Group, in a letter to the Planning Board, opposes construction of the biochemistry building on William and presses the University "to document its efforts to follow through on a specific housing commitment" made in 1971 by former president Robert F. Goheen.

Dr. Goheen had said that the University would build 1,500 low-and-middle-income housing units in and around Princeton, to be available to the general public. The PHG charges that the University "has taken no action to demonstrate its willingness to shoulder its fair share of the housing burden."

The letter was written before the University announced it might move the four houses to Faculty Road. The two remaining houses are stucco, and experts have said they would crack if moved.

Mr. Hlafter reminded the Planning Board that William street is on the Borough's Master Plan as an Educational Zone, and is not a purely residential street, in spite of the six houses. Frick, the University Press, a parking lot and the old Nassau Street school building, now the property of the University, are all along the street.

space for possible future work in DNA re-combinant research, the University would have to come back for an amendment to its building permit if its decided to do that kind of research in the new structure.

After describing the new addition, Mr. Hlafter said a Phase II building would probably follow, possibly with construction of a parking garage across the street in the former Nassau Street school parking area.

Planning Board member Karl Light, who said he had sometimes been a real estate consultant for the University, abstained in the discussions.

WHAT ABOUT FIREMEN?
And Fire Houses? Are Princeton's three volunteer fire companies satisfactory in number and location as Princeton grows and the Township develops?

A joint Borough-Township committee will examine these and related questions in the weeks ahead. The committee will consist of Fire Chief Anthony J. Krystaponis Jr., one of the former chiefs, the general manager of plant for Princeton University, and specialists on fire insurance and fire-fighting equipment.

William Selden, the Borough's fire commissioner, and Township Mayor Josie Hall who holds the public safety portfolio for the Township, will represent the municipalities in discussion of these long-range questions.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said there is Late Winter Lament

Oh, weather poet
To those whose backs
From shovelling ache!

Last week's poetic thought suggested that a new coating of snow would at least cover the grimy stuff that had been around most of the winter. As matters turned out, warm sunshine and then rain dispatched all the dirty snow, turning thoughts immediately to winter's being replaced by spring.

That welcome warmth, which saw thermometers in the sun's rays soar over 70, is not due to be duplicated for a while, but the Man doesn't see any sign of more snow, either. Temperatures in the high 40s and low 50s through Thursday will be followed by rain Friday, he believes, with a generally fair weekend to follow.

uneasiness about the increasing congestion of Chambers Street, where one fire company is located, and also some concern about the age of men who are now firemen. A fourth fire company in the Township is a possibility, the mayor suggested.

SUITS DISMISSED
Sheehan Had Brought Them. Superior Court Judge George Y. Schoch has dismissed two cases taken to the court by Timothy J. Sheehan against the Borough Zoning Board and two Princeton property-owners.

Suits dismissed were those involving the Alchemist and Barrister Restaurant on Witherspoon Street, and Dr. I. Andrew Shelpuk, 364 Nassau. Both had been granted variances by the Zoning Board which were challenged by Mr. Sheehan. He charged that the applicants did not prove "hardship," and did not present proper evidence related to the zoning ordinances. "negative criteria"; that is, did not show that what they wished to do would not impair the purpose of the zoning law.

So far, there has been no indication from Mr. Sheehan about an appeal from Judge Schoch's decision.

MOVING PLAN SHELVED
For William Street Houses. It's not financially possible for the Historical Society to remove the four houses on William Street, the Society reluctantly decided this week.

Instead, the Society is encouraging Princeton University to move the quartet to University property on Faculty Road near Broadmead. After the move, they would remain part of the University's own housing stock.

Too many shade trees would either be lost or severely damaged during the progress of the houses from William Street to any new location, the Society decided after careful study of available sites. Also, the cost of removing electric and telephone lines during the move, turned out to be higher than expected.

However, along Washington Road and Faculty Road, there are few trees and the wiring is largely underground, making the proposed move relatively easy.

John P. Moran, the University's vice-president for facilities, said that relocation on Faculty Road appears to be a good solution to a difficult problem. Precise plans and costs must still be worked out, he said, and the necessary approvals obtained from the Township, where Faculty Road is.

CONSOLIDATION?
Environmental Groups Ask. "The two Princetons are one environment," said Borough Environmental Commission chairman Denyse Reid to Borough Council at last Thursday's special meeting. She was asking Council to approve the consolidation of Borough and Township commissions, preferably in action to start next month. Problems of noise, pollution and drainage cross municipal lines, she said, and the acquisition of open space land is for everyone in Princeton.

Meetings of the two groups have been joint for the past eight or nine months, she told Council.

"There are enormous differences in many points of view," observed Council member Gus Escher, "the kinds of concerns Borough and Township could have, might well vary. The Borough is a 'given,' with its future behind it, while the Township faces further development."

James Sayen, of the Borough's commission, said separate sub-committees, to serve either Borough or Township, could always be appointed.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley, pointing to the absence of two Council members, said he wished to discuss the question with them, and also with Township Committee.

BUDGET HEARING AHEAD
For Schools. The public hearing on the 1977-78 school budget will be held next Tuesday, March 8, at 8 p.m. in Community Park School.

After the hearing and public comment, the board will make its final decision on the budget. In case no decision can be reached Tuesday night, the board has set aside next Thursday, March 10, as a tentative date for budget adoption.

Last Friday, business administrator Ronald Novak learned that the "cap" appeal figure given him by the state was different from the one given to the Mercer County commissioner of education.

The way it stands now, the state's education commissioner has said the board can budget an additional $162,900. But if the board wants to spend all that, it must clear out its $50,000 worth of reserves because the state is only allowing a "cap" of $112,000.

The board is expected to explain this new development Tuesday night and to discuss what to do about it.

FUNDS SOUGHT

By United Jewish Appeal. The Princeton United Jewish Appeal has officially begun its 1977 campaign.

The funds to be raised in the campaign will help to alleviate the costs of housing, education, welfare and health services in Israel. Monies will also aid the Israeli resettlement of Jews from the Soviet Union and other countries. Because the appeal is undertaking a broad range of social welfare programs in Israel, the need for greater participation is most important.

The newly appointed officers for 1977 are chairman, Peter Nathan; executive vice-chairmen, Jerome Kurshan and Roslyn Denard; treasurer, Rubin Schwartzstein; financial secretary, Alfred Peiser; corresponding secretary, Maxine Farmer; recording secretary, Martha Rossman; information services, Franz Edelman. Inquiries and/or contributions may be forwarded to Mr. Peiser, 11 Merritt Lane, Rocky Hill.

PIPE BOMB DISCOVERED

At Old IDA Building. Borough detectives and the FBI are continuing their investigation into who placed a pipe bomb in a courtyard of the former Institute for Defense Analyses building off Prospect Avenue.

The bomb, two inches in diameter and six inches long, was found Thursday morning at 9:30 by Kenneth J. Gadsby, a technical assistant, who was conducting an experiment and had stepped outside, police said, to take the temperature.

Police Called. Borough police were called at 9:57 and Sgt. Ralph Procaccino, Det. Ronald Holliday and Capt. Lewis responded. When it was ascertained that the pipe was indeed a bomb, two members of the 60th Explosive Ordinance Detachment at Fort Dix were called.

They tied a rope to the pipe, pulled it to the center of the court and covered it with sandbags. Using a small explosive charge, they blew off one of the caps at either end. It was 11:33.

The bomb was then dismantled and sent to the FBI lab. Also on the scene were members of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, an arm of the Treasury Department.

"We are of the opinion there was some explosive in there; there is evidence something inside went off," said Capt. Lewis.

Asked if the bomb looked to be the work of a professional, Capt. Lewis replied that "it looks as if it might have been the first attempt to make a bomb."

Graffiti, Too. On a wall near the front steps to the Von Neumann building, which now houses the Center for Environmental Studies, there was a swastika sprayed in green paint. Above it was a common four-letter obscenity; below it the letters "PHS." The same letters were also sprayed on an electrical box.

"It's hard to say what PHS stands for at this time," Capt. Lewis said. "We don't know of any militant organizations with those initials." The police officer did not feel that the initials necessarily implicated Princeton High School.

Asked if the pipe bomb may have been lying on the former IDA grounds for some time, Chief Lewis responded that police had evidence that the painting and the placing of the bomb took place between February 18-24.

Police have no suspects at the moment. Capt. Lewis urged anyone with any information to call 921-8108, in confidence, and ask for Det. Holliday.

GETS 90-DAY SENTENCE

For Contempt of Court. Stanley Klein, 36, 97 Mountain Avenue, was sentenced to 90 days in the Mercer County Workhouse in Borough Court Monday for contempt of court.

Klein had been picked up earlier the same day by police in connection with a letter he had hand-delivered February 22 to the Borough court clerk. In the letter, described by the clerk as "contemptuous," Klein had attacked the entire judicial process involving two cases he has under appeal.

One under appeal in Mercer Court involves an obstructing and interfering charge by Borough police. Another charge of panhandling against Klein is presently in the Appellate division.

In Borough traffic court Monday, Judge Philip Carchman fined five Princeton area residents for speeding.

David M. Anderson, 8G Dorchester Drive, Cranbury, was fined $18, and Richard A. Catalina, 4 Sunnydale Highway, paid $16. Fined $15 each were Filomena Procaccini, 49 Humbert Street; George Cendeno, 463 Prospect Avenue, and Marshall Chambers, The Lawrenceville School.

Marion Milligan, 147 Birch Avenue, was fined $30 for careless driving, while Michael Westock of Cranbury and Jeremiah Bauman, 631 Mount Lucas Road, paid $25 and $15 respectively for red light violations.

SPEAKERS ARE TAKEN

From Tower Club. A pair of wall-mounted stereo speakers, valued at between $300 and $400, were stolen this week from a first floor room at the Tower Club, 13 Prospect Avenue.

An attempt was also made to remove the speakers' receiver and amplifier from a cabinet in the room. Police said that the locked cabinet had been pried open but a cable-type lock prevented their theft. A front door had been forced open to enter the club.

Ptd. Gerald Patterson investigated after police received a call at 2:47 Monday morning reporting the theft.

A potted plant, three to four feet tall, was stolen Friday from a second floor hallway in the Pickering Building, 22 Chambers Street. It was valued at $50.

An employee in the Gallup Building, 53 Bank Street, told police that while he was out of the office Friday evening, someone entered and stole a tape recorder and his wallet.

In the Township, Debra DeLorenzo of Trenton, reported on Saturday the theft of her wallet from her parked car.

She told police that she and a companion had parked in the Mercer Park lot near the Clark House off Mercer Road to take a walk in the woods. As they were leaving, she noticed several youths lounging in the parking area.

Upon her return, she saw that the vent window of her car was open. Checking her pocketbook, she discovered her wallet containing $15 was missing. The area was checked by police without success.

2 STUDENTS CHARGED
In Campus Larceny. Francisco J. Fonseca, 23, and Richard M. Perles, 19, both of 12A Holder Hall, have been charged with larceny under $200 from the Student Center on the University Campus. Both have been issued a complaint summons, calling for their appearance in Borough Court March 16.

They were apprehended around 1:30 Thursday morning by University proctors. Borough Ptl. John Holcombe, on routine patrol, had been stopped by an unidentified individual who reported seeing two persons acting in a suspicious manner near the Student Center. Holcombe went to the campus where he was joined by proctors who made the arrest.

Police said that the two suspects had allegedly stolen a small amount of food.

Woman Charged. Mollie Thompson, 18, of Princeton Inn Dorm, has been charged by police with shoplifting soda and cakes valued at $2.98 from the WaWa Store on University Place.

She was taken to police headquarters by Sgt. Thomas Procaccino, after police were called by Frederick Evans, the store's assistant manager. Miss Thompson was scheduled to appear in Borough Court this Wednesday.

BICYCLIST TICKETED
In Car Accident. Stuart B. Bassler, 20, 2M Dodd Hall, Princeton University, was issued a summons for disregarding a stop sign after he allegedly went through a Mount Lucas Road stop sign Saturday afternoon and struck a car at the intersection of Ewing Street.

Mr. Bassler was treated at Princeton Medical Center for a leg injury. Ptl. James

PLATE WINDOW BROKEN

At Service Station. Between 11 Friday night and Saturday morning, someone threw a three-inch rock through a 5-by-8 foot plate glass window of the Exxon Service Station on the corner of Nassau and Murray Place.

A Princeton High School teacher told police last week that the front windshield of his car had been shattered while it was parked last Wednesday evening in the school lot off Houghton Road. Capt. Theodore Lewis commented that a BB-type pellet may have been responsible.

'NO BIG CRIME WAVE'

For 1976 In Township. "I see nothing too disturbing for a community our size; there is no big, big crime wave in the Township," commented Chief Frederick Porter as he released his 1976 crime statistics.

There were 528 crimes committed in the Township in 1976 in the Part One section of the Uniform Crime Reporting Classification, which includes homicide, rape, robbery, assault, breaking and entering, larceny and auto theft, as compared to 511 in 1975 - a three percent increase.

The biggest jump was in assaults, up 42 percent: 37 from 26. There were 177 breaking and enterings with larceny as compared to 149 the year before, an increase of 19 percent.

Larcenies decreased from 316 to 304, robberies from 9 to 3 - a two-thirds drop - and auto thefts from 10 to 6. There was one rape in 1976, the same as the year before.

Property stolen amounted to $128,286; the amount recovered was $19,040. The figures for 1975 were $139,811 and $27,653.

Among other crimes committed by adults were forgery and counterfeiting (2), fraud (3), possession of stolen property (6), malicious mischief (2), sex offenses (2), narcotic offenses (15), driving under the influence of alcohol (13), drunkenness (2) and disorderly conduct (4).

One hundred twelve juveniles were arrested and charged - two more than the previous year. There were a total of 19,029 docket entries or almost 13 percent more than the 16,886 lodged in 1975.

Auto Fatalities Stay High. One figure Chief Porter said the police were unhappy about was the five death-by-auto fatalities even though that was one less than the number the year before. Police investigated 364 accidents - 16 more than a year ago - and issued 2,999 summonses, a drop of 28.

Township patrol cars traveled more than a quarter of a million miles - 251,623 - and answered 1,660 home security alarms as compared to 1,497 in 1975. Police checked 1,933 vacant homes at the request of residents, an increase of 641. In addition, six burglar arrests were made as a result of home security alarms.

REGISTRATION SET

By St. Paul's School. St. Paul's School, 218 Nassau Street, has scheduled the following dates and requirements for September, 1977, registration.

Kindergarten registration will be held Tuesday from 9 until 1, Wednesday from 9 until 11, and Thursday from 9 until 1. Children must be five years old before November 30 or by the date required by the public school district in which the child lives. Registration for new, non-kindergarten students will be held for girls on Tuesday, March 22, 9 until 1 and boys, Thursday, March 24, 9 until 1.

All registrants must have certificates of baptism and birth. Health records will require information of past illnesses, accidents, operations, allergies and dates of immunization. All pre-school children should have a physical by their physician and a dental examination. New Jersey State Law requires each child to have the following immunizations: four doses of DPT vaccine, three doses of live oral poliomyelitis vaccine, one dose of live measles vaccine (after age 1), and one dose of live rubella (German measles) vaccine.

Children should fulfill these health requirements before they are registered and be able to submit dates of immunization. A non-refundable registration fee of $15 per child is required.

BRIDGE CLOSING SET

Over Canal on 518. The Department of Transportation will close the County Route 518 bridge over the Delaware and Raritan Canal in Franklin Township, Somerset County, for repairs next week, probably on Monday. It will remain closed for approximately three weeks.

The Department suggests that motorists traveling southbound on Route 27, heading toward Route 518 westbound, follow Route 27 southbound to River Road in Princeton Township, then proceed north on River Road to Crescent Avenue in Rocky Hill and then west on Crescent Avenue to 518 westbound.

Motorists on Route 518 westbound are advised to proceed south on the Kingston-Rocky Hill Road (Laurel Avenue) to Route 27 southbound and then to Route 518 via River Road and Crescent Avenue.

Motorists traveling eastbound on Route 518 should proceed east on Crescent Avenue to River Road, then south on River Road to Route 27 and should proceed north on Route 27 to Laurel Avenue and north on Laurel Avenue to Route 518 eastbound.

CAWLEY FOR WEIDEL

Mayor Gives Endorsement. "A man of courage and personal conviction," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week, announcing his endorsement of Karl A. Weidel, who faces a Republican primary fight in his bid for a fifth term in the New Jersey State Assembly. Mayor Cawley, also a Republican, praised Mr. Weidel for his support of a state income-tax.

"I support the income-tax myself," the mayor said, "and as a partisan Republican, I feel the party needs a diversity of opinion. Mr. Weidel's stand on the income-tax draw the support of those in the party who want someone courageous who brings needed diversity."

The mayor added that Mr. Weidel was an "outstanding representative" who had frequently been responsive to the needs of Princeton Borough.

TO SPEAK TUESDAY

To Rotary Club. Dr. Robert S. Garber, president of The Carrier Clinic, will address the luncheon meeting of the Princeton Rotary Club at the Nassau Inn on Tuesday.

Dr. Garber, in addition to his duties at Carrier, serves on the faculties of Temple University Medical School, Jefferson Medical College and Rutgers Medical School and is a consultant in psychiatry and neurology to Somerset, Cooper, Mercer Hospitals and to the Princeton Medical Center where he is also a trustee. A former president of the American Psychiatric Association, Dr. Garber is the author of more than 50 papers on psychiatry and mental health.

CHINA IS TOPIC
Of Program Sunday. In celebration of Tuesday's International Women's Day, the U.S. China-Peoples

Friendship Association and the Women's Center at Princeton University are sponsoring a talk and a film Sunday at 2 in the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, 124 Witherspoon Street.

Margaret Whitman will speak on "Women In China," an account of the role played by women in the Chinese socialist construction. Ms. Whitman has travelled to China four times and is a member of the National Steering Committee of the U.S.-China Peoples Friendship Association.

A color documentary film, "The Other Half of the Sky: A China Memoir," will be shown. The film, which has been nominated for an academy award, was made by actress Shirley MacLaine and 28-year old filmmaker Claudia Weil of the first American all-women's delegation to China, which included Ms. Whitman.

FASHION SHOW SATURDAY
To Benefit Medical Center. The annual Fashion Show Benefit for the Princeton Medical Center will be held Saturday from 9 to 4 at Bellows, 210 Nassau Street. Bill Atkinson, a New York designer, will personally present his spring collection, The Orient Express.

Featuring first-class travel costumes, the collection offers an assortment of coordinated separates to dress a woman from morning through evening in elegant ease. The colors are soft naturals, and the fabric is silk, in textures ranging from pangee to burlap.

Bellows will donate ten percent of the day's total store sales to benefit The Medical Center. Members of the Ladies Auxiliary will model the collection and serve refreshments to those who come to meet Mr. Atkinson and his wife, Jeanne.

APPLICATIONS ARE DUE
For Conservation Jobs For Youth. The Princeton Community House is participating in this summer's Youth Conservation Corps program sponsored by New Jersey's Department of Environmental Protection.

The Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) was established to offer youth summer employment in the outdoor atmosphere of national parks and forests. The experience of the YCC is based on a earn-work-learn balanced concept. Participants will be working on conservation projects that will teach them not only how to improve the environment, but why the contributions of all citizens are important.

Youth between the ages of 15-18 will participate in camps that are scheduled to open in early July for eight weeks. The weekly schedule will consist of 30 hours of conservation work combined with ten hours of environmental education. The pay is based on a 30 hour week at $2.50 per hour.

Some of the camps are residential ones which require participants to live at the camp during the 8 week period. Other camps, however, are non-residential and participants will be responsible for providing their own lunches and transportation to and from camp.

Any youth, 15-18 years of age, is eligible to apply for

TO DISCUSS HISTORY

Of Princeton, Lawrenceville, "Old Princeton and Maidenhead," the third in a series of illustrated slide lectures on Mercer County, will be given on Tuesday at 7:30 at the Hightstown Memorial Branch of Mercer County Library. Clark Hutchinson, local history researcher, will continue his discussion of nearby historic and architectural attractions, focusing on these pre-Revolutionary settlements, the second of which became Lawrence Township.

Lawrenceville, whose central section has been designated a National Historic District, is noted for its stone farmhouses. Princeton boasts such attractions as the homes of three signers of the Declaration of Independence and Nassau Hall, where the Continental Congress met.

CARD PARTY MONDAY

To Benefit Scholarship Fund. Final reservations are now being accepted for the annual Scholarship Fund Dessert Card Party and White Elephant Sale sponsored by the Women's College Club. The party will benefit the club's scholarship fund which provides aid to qualified girls applying to four year colleges from the four secondary schools of Princeton.

The card party will be held on Monday at noon in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Valley Road. Call Martha Hartman, 921-6267, to reserve a table at $12 or an individual place at $3. Places at $3 for non-card players are also available.

ILLUSTRATIONS ON VIEW

From Children's Book, "Kickle Sniffers," "Gowrows," "Lufferlangs" and other critters of superstition and legend are on view in an unusual zoo at the Public Library's children's room.

Drawn by Glen Rouds, they are illustrations from "Kickle Sniffers and Other Fearsome Critters collected from American Folklore," by Alvin Schwartz. The exhibit, lent to the Library by Mr. Schwartz, may be seen through the month of March. The children's room is open on Mondays from 9 to 5:30 and Sunday from 1 to 5:30.

1. From Ho-Ho-Ho To Oh-Oh-Oh.

With the season-to-be-jolly just behind you and tax time just ahead, it's easy to get caught in the middle. First you have to pay the price for playing Santa Claus when all those department store and national bank card bills come rolling in. Then you have to face the fact that there's no tax refund coming this year. As a matter of fact, without that home office as a deduction, you owe Uncle Sam money this year. All of which puts you in a bit of a financial squeeze.

2. Don't Cry Uncle.

But don't despair. There is a way out of your pickle. It's called ABC, Automatic Bank Credit. It's a special service of Princeton Bank and Trust Company which lets you borrow money just by writing a check for more than your balance. Or by filling out a simple form and having the amount you need transferred to your account. Your loan is approved ahead of time for a pre-determined amount up to $5,500. Then, as you repay your loan, it is automatically renewed up to your limit. So there's no need to re-apply every time you want to borrow money.

Then you can use your ABC cash reserve when you wish, as you wish. To consolidate bills, for example. Did you know that our low ABC Annual Percentage Rate of 12%* is 6% lower than Department Store Charge Account rates and 3% lower than Bank Credit Card rates on the first $700 of outstanding credit card purchases? Think about it. That's a 50% and a 25% difference respectively.

Of course, if you owe Uncle Sam, you don't want to pay him early. Wait until April 14th, and if you need the help, just draw on ABC.

Uncle Sam vs. Santa Claus.

(How to avoid getting caught in the middle)

3. ABC Is A Letter Perfect Answer.

The great thing about ABC is that it gives you flexibility. The money is there if you need it. You can repay your loan quickly, if you wish and save on interest charges. For example, you may be one of the lucky ones who has a tax refund coming. You could use ABC to consolidate debts now and repay ABC with your tax refund when it arrives. Or you can spread out your payments to suit your particular needs. And remember—unless you use it, ABC never costs you a cent.

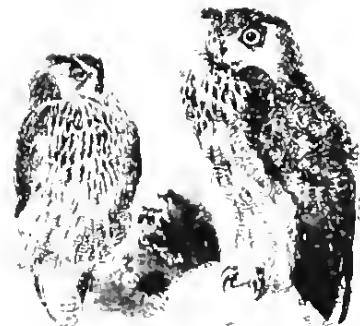

And of course ABC isn't just for unpleasant tasks like paying taxes and the bills of Christmas past. You can use it for a warm water skiing vacation in Florida or a cold snow skiing vacation in Vermont. Whatever you may need money for, ABC is the perfect answer.

4. Our Sanity Clause.

In this world of inflation and temptation, ABC can provide you with a little financial sanity. Just remember to use it for your convenience and your benefit. When emergencies come up, ABC is there. When a special opportunity comes up, ABC is there. Even when you don't need it, ABC is there. Except it's not costing you anything. And it's giving you peace of mind.

All of which means that we think the sanest thing you could do right now is visit any Princeton Bank & Trust office and apply for ABC. It could be just the thing to get you out from between Santa and Sam and back on top of things.

*The balance on which the FINANCE CHARGE is computed is the average daily loan balance for the actual number of days between billing cycle dates. The FINANCE CHARGE is computed by multiplying the daily loan balance (applying debits and credits as posted) by a daily periodic rate of .03287 percent (12% divided by 365). The FINANCE CHARGE rate is equal to an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 12%.

University Honors 3 at Midwinter Alumni Meeting

A mathematician, an art museum director and a young pianist were the recipients of three of Princeton University's highest awards at the 63rd annual Midwinter luncheon meeting of the Alumni Association last Saturday.

The James Madison Medal honoring an alumnus of the graduate school was awarded to John W. Milnor of the Institute for Advanced Study, a mathematician of international eminence. The medal memorializes the country's fourth president, who was also a member of the Class of 1771, as well as Princeton's first graduate student and first president of the Alumni Association. It honors a graduate alumnus who has distinguished himself in his career, who has advanced the cause of graduate education, or who has achieved a record of outstanding public service.

Like Madison, Dr. Milnor is both an undergraduate and graduate alumnus of Princeton. He received his bachelor's degree with the class of 1951 after three years of study and earned his doctorate in mathematics in 1954.

During his freshman year, Dr. Milnor proved a conjecture of a Polish mathematician concerning the total curvature of a knotted curve in space. His work developed into a full theory, which was published in 1950 in the "Annals of Mathematics" when he was 18 years old.

Appointed to the Princeton faculty in 1955, Dr. Milnor was promoted to a full professorship in 1959, at age 28. In 1962, in recognition of his extraordinary ability, he was named first incumbent of the Henry Putnam University Professorship.

A mathematical theorist and one of the world's great topologists, Dr. Milnor was one of two recipients of the 1962 Field Medal of the International Congress of Mathematics. Considered comparable to the Nobel Prize, the award is given every four years. In 1966 Milnor was awarded the National Medal of Science for his "clever and ingenious approaches in topology which have solved long outstanding problems and opened exciting new areas in this branch of mathematics."

Dr. Milnor joined the faculty at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1968 and two years later returned to Princeton as a professor at the Institute for Advanced Study, where he currently serves as executive officer of the School of Mathematics. He is the author of some 75 papers and books.

The Woodrow Wilson Prize, awarded annually to a Princetonian who distinguishes himself "in the Nation's service," was awarded to Thomas P.F. Hoving, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Mr. Hoving earned his B.A. degree summa cum laude in 1953, his M.F.A. in 1958 and his Ph.D. in art history in 1959, all from Princeton.

He was cited for contributing "a refreshing combination of scholarship without stuffiness, devotion to quality without austerity, and tradition without confinement. He has sought to make our society more conscious of the museum and the insights it can provide. He has proven that a museum can help people of all ages remain esthetically and historically alert."

Mr. Hoving is the 21st recipient of the Woodrow Wilson Award which carries a cash grant of $1,000 and was created by an anonymous gift in 1956, centennial year of Wilson's birth. Previous Woodrow Wilson Award recipients include George F. Kennan, Senator Clairborne Pell of Rhode Island, Ralph Nader, John D. Rockefeller 3rd, Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach, Adlai Stevenson and John Doar, among others.

The Moses Taylor Pyne Prize, the highest general distinction conferred on an undergraduate, was awarded to Joshua M. Rafner of Bethesda, Md. A gifted pianist who has been a leader in both student and university government, he is majoring in the economics of public policy in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. The prize includes a check for $4,300, the equivalent of one's year's tuition and fees.

BOROUGH IS WORRIED
About Sewer "Liability". The concept of "contingent liability" is the Borough's "A-1 problem" regarding any Stony Brook regional sewer. Mayor Robert W. Cawley warned this week, in the aftermath of last Thursday's sewer meeting, which he shrugged off as "hashing over the same old things."

Meanwhile, the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority has begun a search for an engineer -- or possibly an engineer-administrator -- to replace Robert Harvey, who has resigned his post as executive director of the Authority, effective February 28. He has promised to continue, part-time, until a replacement is found.

Mayor Cawley said, however, that as a result of the meeting, the single-plant and multiple-plant people may find more common ground for compromise than had been thought, and he expressed the hope that there will be "less polarization" from now on.

He reported that Thomas Cawley, Borough representative on the Authority, talked with environmentalists after the meeting who said they had not been aware of the "contingent liability" problem, believed it to be bad for the Borough and would work for a solution.

Municipal attorney Gordon Griffin will be asked to probe the "liability" clause in the service agreement that exists among the seven Authority municipalities, but Mayor Cawley said he wasn't sure yet what, specifically, Mr. Griffin would be asked to do.

"Contingent liability" means that if an Authority municipality such as Hopewell Township says now that it wants minimal sewer service for a limited population, and then decides in later years that it wants expanded sewers for a growing population, all the other Authority communities would have to pay the cost of that expansion.

Samuel M. Hamill Jr., executive director of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Planning Council, who prepared at Council's request, a balance sheet for the two opposing plans, warned about contingent liability and suggested asking a lawyer to find out whether the concept could be modified.

A "Quagmire." Mr. Hamill also suggested asking an independent agency to work its way through what he called the "cost quagmire." For his own report to Council, he turned to Charles Cornforth, a former Council member with community renown as a figures man.

Mr. Cornforth listed seven variables, and said that anyone with firm convictions on all seven, would find the financial answers easy.

For Council, however, he said his calculations show no direct answer as to which alternative, one plant or three, promises the greater financial advantages. Council must weigh many factors, only one of which is financial, he observed, adding that "the problem of reaching the right decision, seems monumental."

For advice, he suggested Council turn to the Old Testament -- First Kings, 3:16. (This is the one in which Solomon divides the true mother of a disputed infant by asking a soldier to cut the child in half with his sword. Mr. Cornforth didn't say whether this was a metaphor for a single plant or two plants.)

Council member Gus Escher, at the meeting, said the growth issue upstream -- Hopewell and environs -- is "very important."

"We've got to agree on what we're going to serve," he declared.

Figures Vary. A member of the staff of Westwater, Gaston and Dunka, the Authority consultants, said that population projections of 10,000, 20,000 and 30,000 have all been given for Hopewell.

"If I thought we were trying to preserve Hopewell farmland, that would be a regional gain," Mayor Cawley observed. "If it's all for residential growth, I haven't much interest."

PHOTOGRAPHY IS TOPIC
Of Antiques Show Lecture. Dr. Eugenia P. Janis will deliver the lecture at the 18th annual Princeton Antiques Show, sponsored by the Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey, to be held March 16-19. She will speak on "Art and Photography in the Nineteenth Century," Friday, March 18, at 11 in the school auditorium.

The relationship between photography and other forms of art is surprisingly close, according to Prof. Janis, during the 19th century photographers used the techniques of visual art common to painters and produced works recalling impressionist landscapes. Other photographers, especially in this century, are working as abstract expressionists.

Prof. Janis is a pioneer in guiding museum acquisitions in photography and is also interested in individual

C. JANE BONING

People Being Plowed Under.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I have been waiting for a response from individuals in our community to the threatened destruction of a part of ourselves. Not only do I think that aside from the question of the production of biohazardous material in the middle of downtown Princeton,

it is, it seems to me,

even more destructive to our community, to eliminate a small, but thriving and viable neighborhood.

How can we tolerate, when the needs of our people for housing are so obvious, the demolition or removal of six houses on Williams Street by Princeton University, and one on the corner of Nassau and

Scott Lane by the First National Bank of Princeton.

We shall cease to be a community of people when we become a town of buildings, no matter how potentially attractive those buildings. Or spaces for yet more automobiles?

What can we be thinking of when we dislocate our people,

our neighbors, for yet another fantastic esoteric idea? Is not the idea of community, the ultimate benefit to us all as people, a living group of humans working together for our own good. Is not part of that idea decent housing in the heart of our town lest we lose our heart? Is it not also true that to build anew is more expensive than to maintain what housing now exists?

And what of the people who have lived in those houses, some for at least 50 years; do we know that they want to relocate, and where, at the age of 70 plus years? Can we build plaster wall houses for them, with that same space and aesthetic charm as that now exists on William Street?

I think we can not.

I think the destruction of a neighborhood is an obscenity, and to not speak out against its destruction is sinful, a miscarriage of justice, the just right of people to live in security. As for the First National Bank, it seems they would pave Paradise, to put up a parking lot, as the old protest song goes.

In the last several years, between the University and Seminary we have lost at least six housing units that accommodated some nine families. The loss of Thompson Hall, although not housing, and the Robert

Morris Hunt house next to it, were extremely regrettable.

Since that time the Seminary, it seems, has changed heart, and is to be commended on its plan to save the Hagerman-

Einstein house on the corner of Library Place and Mercer

Street.

When will the University see that the needs of people for housing outweighs the need to destroy housing to put up yet another building for a purpose of questionable benefit?

Surely the University has other land, acres of it more suitable for that kind of construction, on which no housing exists that need be destroyed.

But, primarily, to my mind, is it not better to keep a neighborhood of people, and a charming one at that, and a house which is included in the Bassette Survey, rather than to destroy that neighborhood, for whatever purpose? Is it not time to stop this nibbling away at the fabric of our town? Are we a community sensitive to the domestic needs of our citizens or must we constantly surrender to the overwhelming pressures of impersonal institutions?

collections. In September, 1975, she was moderator of a symposium held at Lincoln Center in New York City, and called "Collecting the Photograph."

At Wellesley College, she teaches a course on 19th and 20th century graphic art, of which the history of photography was originally only a part. Academic interest in photography as fine art has been growing so rapidly, however, that beginning in 1971-1972, Dr. Janis has been teaching it as a separate course, one of the most popular offered at the college.

The Wellesley College Art Museum, with more than 1300 objects in its collection, has recently embarked on an aggressive program to acquire important photographs. Dr. Janis' lecture will be illustrated with slides selected from the Wellesley Art Department's collection, which includes more than 60,000 photographs and 80,000 slides for the teaching of the history of art at the college.

Those attending the lecture may enjoy luncheon afterwards in a room decorated with spring flowering plants by Kale's Nursery, followed by an afternoon browsing through the Princeton Antiques Show. The Show will be open to the public from noon until 9 on Thursday and Friday, March 17 and 18, and from noon until 5 on Saturday, March 19.

Proceeds from the Show benefit the general fund of Wellesley College and the May Margaret Fine Scholarship, awarded to young women from central New Jersey for study at Wellesley.

Tickets may be purchased at the door, or in advance by sending a check and a self-addressed stamped envelope to The Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey, 338 The Great Road. A single-admission ticket costs $2.00 if ordered in advance, or $2.50 at the door.

RESEARCH HEAD NAMED

At University, Robert M. May, Class of 1877 Professor of Zoology at Princeton University and internationally known both as a mathematical ecologist and a theoretical physicist, has been named chairman of the University Research Board. The appointment was announced by President William G. Bowen following action by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees at its February meeting.

Effective September 1, Prof. May will succeed Prof. Sheldon Judson, Knox Taylor Professor of Geography, who has chaired the Board for the past five years. The chairman of the Research Board has administrative rank in the University equivalent to Dean.

The nine-member Research Board, established in 1959, is charged with forming policies for the acceptance and administration of research grants and contracts throughout the University and has general supervision over implementation of such policies. In carrying out Board policies, its administrative arm, the Office of Research and Project Administration, assists departments and faculty members in the development of support for and the administration of research projects.

President Bowen said: "Prof. Judson has skillfully and sensitively led the deliberations of the University Research Board during a difficult period. In seeking a successor we are extraordinarily fortunate in having persuaded Prof. May to accept this set of responsibilities. He is known for the breadth of his own background in science, his effective teaching at both undergraduate and graduate levels, his major accomplishments in research, his independence of mind, and his concern for the University as a whole. I am confident that he will provide intelligent and vigorous leadership in promoting the cause of research and scholarship at Princeton."

TRAINING PROGRAM SET

In Behavior Modification. A Behavior Modification Training Program in Self-Control Techniques will be offered as a Community Education Program of New Jersey Neuro-psychiatric Institute in Skillman.

The program introduces participants to several behavior modification ideas and techniques, including relaxation, desensitization, self-image training, behavior analysis, behavior control, assertiveness training and rational thinking. It explains why each technique may be useful, shows how to carry them out and teaches how to cope with life problems more successfully by the use of these techniques as a tangible tool for handling stressful situations with common daily problems at home, at school and at work.

The program will start on Saturday and will run for eight consecutive Saturdays. It will be conducted by Dr. Frances E. Cheek, Director, and Theresa Tomarchio, program coordinator, and-or Cathy O'Brien, program asst. For further information call Mrs. Joan D'Ottavio at 466-0400, ext. 271, 291, or 268.

NAMED COORDINATOR

Of Kean Campaign. Henry S. Patterson, III, of 46 Westcott Road, has been named southern field coordinator for the Tom Kean for Governor Committee.

Mr. Patterson is a 24-year old graduate of St. Mark's School, Southboro, Mass., who received a B.A. in government in 1975 from Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. His campaign experience includes serving in the 1976 senatorial campaign of Robert Monks of Maine.

LUNCH COSTS HIGHER

At West Windsor Schools. Students in the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional Schools are paying more for their school lunches as a result of action taken by the school board at its meeting last week.

The new price for students in grades 1-6 is 60 cents and for students in grades 7-12 70 cents. Adult lunches have been increased to $1 and a la carte items are 5 cents more. School board members felt the increase was necessary because of a deficit of $9,271 in the school lunch account.

In other action, the board resinded its appointment of Edith Greeno of Plainsboro to the regional board in order to permit her to run for a two-year term of office. Mrs. Greeno had been appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Barbara WHERE'S THE MICROWAVE OVEN? New Jersey kitchens in 1776 had amenities of a different kind from those today, students at John Witherspoon Middle School have learned. In the school's big atrium, kitchens, spinning corners, carpentry shops and even a bedroom in the 1776 style, have been drawing crowds of students and teachers. It's an exhibit from the New Jersey State Department of Education, touring the state to any school that wants it. John Witherspoon had the display for two days this week, and all students in the district had a chance to try it out, including Janice Sherman, Leti Volpp and Jessica Llu, shown here.

IT'S NEW To Us

BRAND NEW LOOK

For Davidson's. This past Monday marked the beginning of the grand opening of Davidson's Supermarkets remodeled store. Having acquired a long-term lease, Davidson's has gone the full route with the most modern refrigerator cases, new shelving, a bright new decorating job, and at long last automatic front doors.

However, for any regular shoppers, the basic arrangement of products and aisles has remained the same. A few minor changes have been made, such as moving the salt over near the sugar, but generally the improvements have been physical ones to increase the variety and back-up of products.

All the new refrigerator cases have multi-shelves which has created more space and allowed new varieties to be added. For instance, in the produce department you'll now find a choice of unusual Oriental and European vegetables such as bean sprouts, nappa, Bok Toy and Kohlraby.

"We now can have oaky carrots, fresh peas, bunch radishes, papaya, prickly pears -- all the things we couldn't carry before because there was no space," commented Lou Funk, the store's manager for many years.

In the dairy case new brands of yogurt have been added, and you'll have a choice of Breyers, Light & Lively, and New Country as well as the Dannon and Colombo that were there before. Then with the frozen poultry we saw frog legs, king crab and some new Kosher products.

The frozen cases, by the way, are extremely nice as they are vertical with multi-shelving and yet there are no doors. Instead the cold air is kept in by three downward air drafts at various temperatures.

Bigger Shelves. The shelving throughout the store is new, too, with most of it higher and deeper than the old units. Some in fact, are twice as deep -- 25 inches versus the old 12 -- and this has doubled the back-up of certain products.

Also, with these and the multi-shelved refrigerator cases, the aisles have cleared. No longer are certain items, such as the cake decorating center, displayed on a section of the floor, and naturally this makes it much easier for everyone to move around.

Other improvements include fresh fish every Wednesday and Friday and the addition of a Deli. Here you'll find a variety of imported cheeses, lunch meats by Thumann's and Keller, Nova Scotia salmon, lox, Krakus hams and Russian rye bread. And, it is all priced by the pound, rather than smaller fractions, to reduce any confusion.

The store, itself, which was decorated by Arnold Ward Studios of New York, is clean and bright. The speckled off-white floor is accented by green, gold, red and orange squares -- the same colors that have been used to trim the refrigerator cases. The walls too are neutral in color, with each section identified by one of the four bolder colors, trimmed with wooden letters and molding.

Located at 172 Nassau Street, Davidson's Supermarkets is open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday from 8 until 6, Thursday from 8 until 8 and Friday from 8 until 9.

NEW OWNER IN CHARGE

At Luttmann's. Just a month ago Luttmann's Luggage, which has been selling leather goods to the Princeton community since 1904, entered a new phase when Bruce Crandall became its third owner.

He intends to emphasize the store's quality lines, although this doesn't always mean expensive. Mr. Crandall said, "Sometimes for just a few dollars more, you can get quality that is twice as good."

New companies will be added to the store's resources, and some items have already begun to arrive. For instance, we saw some handsome belting leather portfolios and briefcases by Schlesinger Brothers of Germany. The pieces are all leather, handmade, and quite lovely. A dark brown portfolio with collapsible handles so you can carry it under your arm if you prefer is $100.

We saw-attache cases by Mutual too, and like the above these are made of belting leather, but a slightly thinner kind and thus they are not as expensive.

The best luggage here is by Fulton, and to demonstrate its durability Mr. Crandall showed us a 30-year old bag that despite several trips around the world is still usable.

There are four styles, all of which are very good looking. There is brown fabric with a heavy gauge tan vinyl trim; a green with tan leather trim, and a salt and pepper or red and black tweed with soft tan suede trim. Prices start at $80 for a cosmetic tote and go up to $165 for a two-suitier. In between are many different sizes, including an expandable duffel for those trips when you return with more than you took.

Soft Luggage. The duffel bag has long ago proven how practical soft luggage can be, and in recent years many firms have developed these lines. Luttmann's carries pieces by Boyt, and these include suitcases, an artist's portfolio, backpacks, carry-on bags and even a tennis tote. They come in a tan heavy canvas duck trimmed with black webbed trim, priced from $26.50 to $56.

OVERWEIGHT?

2700 people can't be wrong. That's right.

2700 people are now losing weight on the Naturslim program.

QUIET DIET MAKES ITSELF HEARD IN MERCER COUNTY...

By creating a loud noise in communities recently introduced to NATURLIM. In just 2 weeks Joan Valli of Lawrenceville lost 11 lbs. Linda Stuart of Trenton lost 9 lbs. in 1 week while Mr. and Mrs. J. Foster of Princeton lost 38 lbs. between them in 5 weeks. Also, Mandy Oriver of Trenton lost 8 lbs. in 1 week and Paula Murtagh of Trenton lost 29 lbs. in 4 weeks. And the list goes on and on. They are living proof that NATURLIM really works if you are sincere about losing weight. All this plus having more energy and vitality than ever before.

In one short month hundreds of area residents have been introduced to NATURLIM, which unlike so many around, requires no meetings to attend, no exercises, no drugs or shots, and best of all, for those who try it, no hunger pangs. According to Mr. Robert Watson, representative for the product in N.J., the key to the program is a powder used twice a day to make a variety of milk shakes. These provide two high protein meals and allow the user to eat anything he or she wants for dinner. Also provided are vitamins necessary to maintain the required daily needs. The one pound can supplies two meals a day for a month. The milk shakes are made with one tablespoon of powder called NATURLIM, combined with eight ounces of low fat milk or unsweetened fruit juice, extracts, honey or artificial sweeteners are also added, according to taste. The ingredients are all combined in an electric blender for several minutes. Recipes include such tasty shake combinations as mocha banana, choco/maple, coffee, jello, yogurt, juice and diet soda. The unusual part of the diet, says Mr. Watson, is there are no restrictions on the third meal of the day, dinner. This meal is unrestricted and can consist of many of the so called "forbidden foods." Perhaps this is what has attracted so many residents to the program in such short time.

Representative Robert Watson explaining to Vincent Lee of Lee's Pharmacy in Ewing the wonderful NATURLIM Weight Loss Program. In only 8 weeks Mr. Lee has introduced over 500 people to the program. It really works! 100% guarantee!

Mr. Watson states that the reason the program has so much appeal is that there is no weighing in, no weekly meetings, no criticism from an instructor, and no fees or penalties. No wild promises of overnight miracles, just steady believable results without starving yourself. Further, the diet is tasteful, easy to take, and the main meal is no different from non-dieters. It is the first time the food manufactured in California, has been available here in N.J. NATURLIM has been sold in California, Chicago and New York for over 8 years. As it is introduced throughout the U.S. users in each community number in the thousands.

bags are by Pegasus, Lark, and even Mutual which makes leather garment bags. The man's bag which comes in a tan top grain steerhide has two separate pockets for shirts and accessories, and folds in half so it can be easily carried by a handle or shoulder strap, $120.

Mr. Crandall has also added a luxury custom line by Karl Seeger of Germany. Attache cases, bags of all sizes and even jewelry boxes can be ordered in a wonderfully soft black lambskin or a tough brown Water Buffalo with either gold or silver hardware.

This is a leather store and that encompasses many accessories, ranging from wallets, to portable bars, to desk sets, to photo albums. We also saw picture frames, guest books and ladies' purses which will include handbags by Coach and overseas one with lots of compartments.

Again, quality will be important in all these areas. For instance, while men's wallets start in price at $6, the best ones are by Leathersmiths of London. A tan shadow calf one with a removable credit card section costs $42.50, but it should last for years and in the long run could save you money.

As an example of this, Mr. Crandall showed us an ostrich wallet he bought 14 years ago. It has cost him $3 a year and he says, "Dollar for dollar it was a good buy." By the way, Luttman's will have ostrich wallets, but made from ranch-raised birds as this is an endangered species.

Located at 37 Palmer Square West, Luttman's Luggage is open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 until 5:30.

HIGH AND DRY: This structure, raised in 1913 to make room for stores underneath, is still in Princeton. Do you know where? See below.

TAILOR TO A CAZAR
Firm Has Russian Background. "There's a story in this building," said Larry McHugh, one of the four employees at the Princeton Clothing Company, 17 Witherspoon Street.
From the outside the building looks typical enough: men's clothing store on the ground floor, two floors above devoted to apartments. But like so many buildings in Princeton's downtown area, it has an interesting history.

Peel away the grey stucco of the upper two floors and one would find an old clapboard two-story home, possibly of Steadman design, that was raised in 1913 to make room for a store.

Ben Brown, owner of Princeton Clothing, is not familiar with what happened between 1913 and 1923 when a men's clothing store, started partially by Louis Kaplan, occupied the first floor. Mr. Kaplan later moved down the street and a dry cleaning store moved in for a short time.

From Russia. In 1928 Ben's father, Abe Brown, whose own father was a tailor for a Russian czar, took over and started Princeton Clothing. It sold new and used student's clothing.

It was common then, Ben recalled, for students from the University to buy suits at Langrock's or Brooks Brothers, charge it to their fathers and then sell them. "There were three stores alone on the street that sold them. You could get a good used suit for $14," said Ben.

His father worked long hours, and did all his own tailoring. "He would come in at 4 in the morning, take a nap in the afternoon and then work til 8 or 9 at night," Ben said. He held up one of the old-fashioned irons of solid metal that his father would heat by placing on a gas burner.

About 1928-1930, Ben reports there were two businesses in the same building. On one side was Princeton Clothing, on the other, Rockwood Dairy, which later moved to Nassau Street in the area where Thorne's Drug Store is now.

New Front in 1950. Around 1936 it became just one store again and in 1950, the year Ben came, a new front replaced the old facade. His father suffered a heart attack that year but lived for 10 more years. Ben's brother, Marvin, joined the store in 1952.

Prior to that, Ben had worked at Langrock's since 1933. Now in his 60s, he has been in the men's clothing business all his adult life with the exception of four years in the U.S. Army.

During the early 1950s, Princeton Clothing used to sell women's suits as well. That was phased out after some five years, Ben said, because there "were too many problems."

Although the front is modern brick and glass, the inside of the Princeton Clothing retains an antique aura. Most of the wooden fixtures and cases inside go back to Louis Kaplan's store on Nassau Street which closed during the Depression. The tin ceiling is painted over but the old-fashioned design is still visible.

"We have customers who have been coming here 35 and 40 years," said Ben. Also the sons of fathers who attended the University so Princeton Clothing can count generations as its customers.

In men's fashion, Ben has seen the style swing from traditional to more stylish back to traditional. "Customers today know what they want," he said.

now covered with plaster. Owner Ben Brown (left), and his father before him have operated the store since 1928.

THE ANSWER: The wooden frame house, possibly of Steadman design, is The Princeton Clothing Store at 17 Witherspoon Street, its clapboard walls

Any regrets for having devoted his whole life to the clothing business? "No regrets, none at all," said Ben.

PRESS EDITOR RETIRES
After 20 Years. Princeton University Press has announced the retirement of Mrs. Polly Hanford, a member of the Editorial Department since 1957. For the past two decades, Mrs. Hanford has filled several different positions, including that of staff editor, production editor, assistant managing editor of the Bollingen Series and senior staff editor.

Among other assignments, Mrs. Hanford has worked on "The Papers of Thomas Jefferson," "The Traditional Tunes of the Child Ballads," "The Selected Works of Miguel de Unamuno," "The Divine Comedy," and "Princeton Encyclopedia of Poetry and Poetics." Some of the prize-winning books she has edited are: "The Anatomy of Satire" by Gilbert Highet, "Food and Drug Legislation in the New Deal" by Charles Jackson, "African Urban Life" by Elliott Skinner, "The Art of Rhetoric in the Roman World" by George Kennedy, and "Presidential Spending Power" by Louis Fisher.

Mrs. Hanford's travels include a year spent in the Middle East, where her late husband, Prof. James H. Hanford, held a Smith-Mundt appointment at the University of Damascus. On a sabbatical from the Press in 1970, she spent six months in Greece, Italy, and Turkey studying a number of archeological sites covered in Princeton University Press Books.

SERVICE EXPANDED
By Weidel Real Estate. Richard Weidel, President of Weidel Real Estate, Inc., which maintains eight offices in New Jersey, has announced that Weidel has extended its firm to service Somerset County by joining the Somerset County Board of Realtors and Multiple Listing Service.

Mr. Weidel feels that with today's modern highways, people tend to look at properties in a wider area surrounding their place of employment. Weidel is also a member of Mercer and Hunterdon County Multiple Listing Exchange.

Mr. Weidel, who is also President of Weidel, Inc. of Pennsylvania, points out that his firm is also a member of the Upper and Lower Makefield Multiple Listing Services which covers all of Bucks County.

Wright. That action would have caused Mrs. Greeno to run for a one-year term next February.

In personnel matters, the board approved three salary guide changes for teachers who had completed advanced studies as well as a number of substitute teachers. The board also approved the coaching assignments for the spring athletic program at the high school. In addition, the board approved sabbatical leaves for the 1977-78 school year for Donald Appleby, Coordinator of Special Services, and John Bilcik of the Dutch Neck School faculty.

The board also approved the submission of a Title I application to the State Department of Education for funds to offer a remedial reading program to at least 20 students at the Maurice Hawk School.

The school board voted to change its next monthly meeting date to Monday, March 21, at 8 p.m. because the school district election is scheduled for Tuesday, March 22, the board's regular meeting date.

ALL-DAY PROGRAM SET
For Kindergarten At Chapin School. Applications for enrollment are being accepted for Chapin School's new all-day kindergarten program which will start next September.
The board of trustees - parent-teacher committee recently announced plans for expanding the primary area of education for 4-5 year olds. The school day will include the regular morning kindergarten curriculum of reading readiness and structured math for 5 year olds. An added afternoon pre-kindergarten session for 4-5 year olds will emphasize learning through experience, participating in group activities, sharing ideas and using sequential materials.

Children may be enrolled for the entire day, which will include hot lunch and a rest period or for either the morning or afternoon group.

The members of the joint committee include Dr. Diogenes Allen, board of trustees education committee chairman, Dr. Elaine Jass and Dr. Nelson Hoffman, board members; Mrs. Charlotte Kanavel, headmistress; Mrs. Peggy Coe, head of the lower school; Mrs. Pat Boardman, kindergarten teacher; and Mrs. Mary Wislar, parent.

SERVICES AUCTION SET
By West Windsor School Club. The West Windsor-Plainsboro High School Athletic Booster Club will hold its second annual Service Auction on Saturday at 7 p.m. in the school theatre and commons.

A variety of services and some new merchandise will be available. For instance, home-baked bread, a special Easter basket, clock repair, typing, clothing alterations, use of a Vermont ski lodge, use of a residential tennis court, and a Sony portable TV, to mention just a few, have all been donated. Bids will be accepted by auctioneers Dick Dahl and John McMenamin.

Proceeds from the auction will be used to help finance the cost of building a storage and refreshment facility on the athletic field complex, as well as increasing the scholarship fund.
No admission will be charged and exotic desserts and coffee will be served by the high school cheerleaders. For information, call 799-1093.

REOPENING TUESDAY
For Historical Society. Bainbridge House, 158 Nassau Street, headquarters of the Historical Society will reopen Tuesday after a month's closing. Hours will be Tuesday through Friday, 10 to 4, Saturday and Sunday 2 to 4.

On exhibition will be ten dioramas of Princeton during the Revolution (continuing until June), a display of some 150 valentines and St. Patrick's Day cards, which will be on view through March, and two period rooms which were repainted and refurbished during the closing.

OBITUARIES

Charles H. Rogers of 20 Haslet Avenue, curator of birds at Princeton University's Museum of Zoology in Guyot Hall, died February 26 in Princeton Medical Center. He was 89 and had recently suffered a concussion in a fall in his home.

A native of Philadelphia, Mr. Rogers was graduated from Princeton University in 1909. After a brief period on Wall Street, he joined the bird department at the American Museum of Natural History in 1912. He came to Princeton in 1920 and as curator of ornithology helped Princeton establish a collection which exceeds 15,000 stuffed specimens and lacks only one family of the birds of the world, the Australian scrub bird.

Love of the outdoors and fascination with birds began with Mr. Rogers when he was a boy studying the color plates in the 35 volumes of Jardine's "Naturalist Library" and looking at birds through his father's opera glasses. At Princeton he preferred going out to look for birds to attending football games. In 1900, at age 12, he and 26 others took part in the first Christmas bird count which was held in New York City's Central Park.

Thereafter he took part in every Christmas census except one when he was in Princeton Medical Center after suffering a heart attack. For eight years he was census editor of Birdlore magazine which sponsored the count, and he became known as the "dean" of the Christmas count. He was the leader and compiler of the Princeton Christmas count after his arrival here until 1967.

Led Bird Study Trips. As member and past president of The Trenton Naturalist Club, Mr. Rogers led bird study field trips for the club since its founding in 1938. In 1970 the club honored him with a plaque "In recognition of his special role and service, and for his understanding and appreciation of wildlife, especially in Mercer County."

He taught bird classes at the Adult School for many years, and a Trenton Naturalist Club member wrote of him, "With boundless infectious enthusiasm, Mr. Rogers has always shared with others his wealth of knowledge about birds and flora, and he has been ever generous in teaching all who wished to learn."

Mr. Rogers was a past president of the New Jersey Audubon Society which in 1965 awarded him its annual conservation award for his "valuable contribution to wildlife conservation." He was also for 10 years director of the Elk Lake nature study center in the Adirondacks and was past secretary of the Linnean Society and an honorary member of the Delaware Valley Ornithological Club.

He loved travel, and with his wife Margaret, a botanist, took trips to Africa and a walking tour in the Himalayas, always on the lookout for additional species for the Guyot Hall collection. His greatest joy was in birdwatching, which he once described as "a special pleasure and relaxation. It is a great and revivifying experience to be out there in the fields and woods with nobody except you and all of nature around you."

Charles H. Rogers

In addition to his wife, the former Margaret Saville, he is survived by two sons, Charles R. of Cambridge, Mass., and Capt. William S., U.S.M.C., of Havelock, N.C., and three grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, March 12, at 3 in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road.

Memorial contributions may be made toward the maintenance and curation of the Charles H. Rogers bird collection of the Princeton University biology department. Checks may be made payable to Princeton University and may be sent to Dr. John T. Bonner, chairman of the department, 104 Guyot Hall.

Hugh B. Morrison, 52, of 7 Sycamore Lane, died February 21 in the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond. He was chief engineer for Rhodia Inc. in New Brunswick.

Mr. Morrison was born in China, graduated from Exeter College, and received a master's degree in chemical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was a member of the China Institute in America Inc., the American Academy of Advanced Sciences and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Marian A. Morrison; two sons, Martin Morrison of Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, Tex., and H. Boyd Morrison, at home; three daughters, Miss Elizabeth Morrison, at home, Miss Barbara Morrison of Bridgewater and Miss Nancy Morrison of California, and three grandchildren.

A memorial service was held at the Unitarian Church. Burial was at the convenience of the family. Memorial contributions may be made to the Cancer Research Fund in care of Dr. Kirkland, the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, Va.

Walter J. Vandermark, 71, of San Francisco, Calif., died February 28 in San Francisco. Born in Skillman, he lived in California for the past 25 years.

Mr. Vandermark was a graduate of Rider College and was employed as an accountant by the State of California for 10 years until his retirement in 1972.

He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. George Clark of Neshanic and the Misses Florence, Helen and Myrtle Vandermark, all of Skillman; a brother, Percy of Philadelphia, and a niece.

The service will be held Friday at 2 in Cromwell Memorial Home, 71 East Prospect Street, Hopewell, the Rev. Kenneth R. Bradsell, pastor of the Blawenburg Reformed Church, officiating. Burial will be in Unionville Cemetery, Montgomery Township. Memorial contributions may be made to the Blawenburg Reformed Church.

Mrs. Thomas J. Dunnion of Laguna Hills, Calif., died February 15 in Pasadena, Calif. She was the widow of Thomas J. Dunnion, former vice-president and treasurer of American Airlines.

She is survived by stepchildren and nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Marlys Ferguson Peters, formerly of Princeton, who was associated with Princeton University as Coordinator of Educational Services at the Art Museum.

A memorial service was held at the Geneva Presbyterian Church in Laguna Hills, Calif., with burial in Minneapolis, Minn. Memorial contributions may be made to the Robert R. Ferguson Memorial Fund at Princeton Theological Seminary.

O. William Freeman of 216 Route 31, Pennington, died February 25 in Princeton Medical Center. He was a professional engineer and worked for the New Jersey State Treasury for 15 years, retiring in 1972.

Mr. Freeman was born in West Orange and was a graduate of MIT. He was associated with the Pennington Players for 19 years.

He is survived by his wife, Jean A. Freeman, a daughter, Mrs. Stanley C. Russell of Jackson, Miss.; a son, Nelson G. of Denver, Colo.; three sisters, Mrs. Nelson S. Bigalow of Landgrove, Vt., Miss Margaret B. Freeman of New York City and Mrs. A. F. Williams of Oklahoma, and three grandchildren.

A private service was held at a Pennington funeral home with burial at the convenience of the family. A memorial service will be held at a later date. Memorial contributions may be made to the First Aid Squad of Pennington or to the American Heart Association.

John A. Stewart Jr., 48, of 35 West Broad Street, died February 26 in his home. Born in Sewickley, Pa., he lived in Princeton for many years and attended Princeton public schools.

A 1951 graduate of the University of Bridgeport, Bridgeport Conn., he served with the Army for two years after graduation and was employed by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company in the engineering department. He was an elder and trustee of the First United Presbyterian Church of Hopewell and a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Surviving are his wife, Karen Johnson Stewart; two sons, John H. and Scott A., both of Hopewell; four daughters, Mrs. John Holcombe of Hamilton Square, Tracy L., Robin B. and Shauna W. all of Hopewell; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stewart Sr. of Florida; a brother, Robert B. of Hopewell, and a sister, Mrs. Donald Schneider of Port Royal, Pa.

The service was held at the First United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Robert Beringer officiating. Burial was in Highland Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society in care of the local post office.

Demetro A. Crocetti, 58, of 219 Valley Road, died February 26 in Princeton Medical Center. He was a lifelong Princeton resident and worked for 19 years in the maintenance department of Princeton University.

Surviving are his wife, Emily Crocetti; three daughters, Miss Frances Crocetti of Trenton, Mrs. Dolores Thompson of Southfield, Mich., and Mrs. Nancy Doren of East Windsor; a son, Roland Crocetti of Skillman; a sister, Mrs. Josephine D'Andrea of Princeton, and a grandson.

Mass of Christian Burial was scheduled to be celebrated in St. Paul's Church with burial in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Blanche M. Collins, 82, of 159 John Street, died February 24 at her home. She was a lifelong area resident and a member of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church.

Wife of the late William T. Collins, she is survived by two sons, Alonzo S. and Stanley F. Collins, both of Princeton; two brothers, Vernon and Alexander Hoagland, both of Princeton; a grandson, William Collins of New Haven, Conn., and four great-grandchildren.

The service was held in the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Charles E. Quillen officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Robert Gabai, 57, of 5 Carter Road, Lawrence Township died February 22 in St. Lukes Hospital, New York City. Born in Paris, France, he came to the U.S. in 1963 and lived in Princeton ever since. He was employed as a butler by Mrs. Samuel Lambert.

He is survived by his wife, Mathurine; a daughter, Nancy, at home; and three brothers and two sisters in France.

A private service was held at Mather Funeral Home with burial in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Bess B. Croll, 86, of 70 Independence Drive, died February 27 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center. She was a member of the Present Day Club.

Survivors include her husband, Paul R., a son, John A., a brother, Styles S. Butz, and a sister, Mrs. Sallie B. Bedman, both of Palmerton, Pa.

There will be a memorial service at a later date. Burial was in All Saints' Cemetery.

News Of The CHURCHES

SPECIAL SERVICE SET

For World Day of Prayer. World Day of Prayer will be celebrated on Friday at 11 in the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Nassau Street and Cedar Lane.

This event is sponsored by Church Women United but is not limited to women. Participants are invited to bring a sandwich for lunch afterwards. Beverages, cookies and babysitting will be provided.

Dr. Paul Hoon, a Methodist minister who has served churches in New York, Connecticut, and Pennsylvania and is currently Henry Sloan Coffin Professor Emeritus of Pastoral Theology at Union Seminary in New York City, will speak. Mrs. Mary Thompson will be the soloist and John Peck, librarian at Westminster Choir College, the organist. Others participating include Mrs. James Beggs, Susie Waxwood and Helen McClure who planned the events.

Since the first small gathering in the United States 90 years ago, the idea of united prayer by women around the world has increasingly captured the imagination of community groups. Today, World Day of Prayer can be described as the most important ecumenical and international observance of the year.

This year's worship service was written by the women of East Germany and reflects their hope that women everywhere will strive together to find ways to put Love into Action. People in thousands of communities across the nation and around the world will join in this annual chain of prayer that links the first voice at dawn in the tropical islands of the western Pacific with the last voice at nightfall on the islands off the coast of Alaska.

ITEMS SOUGHT

For Trinity Rummage Sale. Trinity Church will hold a Rummage and Bake Sale Saturday, March 19, from 10-4 in the church hall, 33 Mercer Street.

There will be dozens of new and nearly new dresses, coats, slacks and shoes for adults and children. In addition, the Boutique will feature an antique telephone, wicker ware, jewelry and an interesting Mah-jong set. There is also a collection of gourmet cookbooks.

Additional items are still being sought. Call the church office, 924-2277 for pick-up of tax deductible donations. Trinity's Boy Scout Troop 50 will assist with food sales and parking.

CARNIVAL SATURDAY

At Jewish Center. The Purim Carnival, for the benefit of the three youth groups of the Jewish Center will be held on Sunday from 10 to 4 at the Center, 435 Nassau Street. Admission is free, and all are welcome.

There will be games and prizes. Lunch of a kosher hot dog, potato chips, homemade cake and a drink all for $1 and other snacks and cotton candy at reasonable prices will be available. There will also be a costume parade at 1:30 with prizes for all entrants in which all children are welcome to enter.

Mrs. Norman Berens, Mrs. Sherman Golumb and Mrs. George Paul are coordinators of the event, and the booths will be run by the members of the three youth groups.

BULLETIN NOTES

Basketball games between the adults and the teenagers who are members and friends of the First Baptist Church will be held Saturday at 5 at the YM-YWCA, which is sponsoring the event. A special attraction will be the appearance of Neat Campbell and the Cheerleaders. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for children.

William Geiger, student assistant at Nassau Presbyterian Church, will lead the mid-day Lenten service Thursday from 12:10 to 12:30 in the Niles Chapel. Continuing the theme of the Seven Last Words from the Cross, he will preach on "Truly I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise."

Worshippers are invited to bring a sack lunch and join for coffee and tea provided by the church in the conference room.

The W. T. Parker Scholarship Committee of the First Baptist Church, Paul Robeson Place and John Street, has planned two events for the coming weeks. William F. Johnson, principal of the John Witherspoon School, will be the guest speaker Sunday, March 13 at 11. The committee is also sponsoring a trip to Radio City Music Hall in New York City on April 2.

The Morning Star Church of God in Christ, 43½ Birch Avenue, will hold a dinner Saturday from noon until 5 p.m. The menu will consist of fried chicken or barbecued ribs, candied yams, collard greens, string beans, potato salad, corn muffins, and dessert. A donation of $2.50 for the chicken, $3 for the barbecued ribs, will be requested.

Orders may be placed in advance by calling 924-5478. The public is invited.

WHAT WE MIGHT WIN: Youth group members of the Jewish Center display prizes for Saturday's Purim Carnival. They are Mitchel and Lori Golumb and Clark Berens.

A LIVING DOLL HOUSE

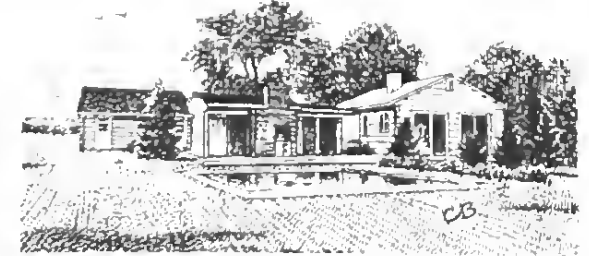

Chock full of appeal, shiny clean, and neat as a pin from top to bottom, this 3 - or possibly 4 - bedroom Cape Cod has just about everything a family of 3 or 4 - or possibly 5 - could want! Living room with beamed ceiling and fireplace, kitchen, adjoining breakfast room with wet bar, 3 bedrooms (one on first floor), den or 4th bedroom, 2 baths, enclosed porch -- all are delightful, but the highlight has to be the surprisingly spacious dining room opening on a greenhouse! There's a good basement too, with workshop space, laundry tub, and possible play area. All on a lovely low-care acre complete with brook and birdcover, and backed by old woods. Our New LIGHT listing is really a bright one!

$75,000

MERCER ST. - Furnished 4 bedroom, 2 bath house. Available June 15, 1977 to Labor Day, 1978. Couple preferred. $600 mo.

RIVERSIDE AREA Unfurnished 4 bedroom, 2 1/2 bath house with study and family room. Available June 20 (possibly earlier) for 1 or 2 years. $600 mo.

SPACIOUS, ATTRACTIVE IN TOWN APARTMENT, partially furnished. Living room with eating area, 2 bedrooms, kitchen, bath. Spacious, attractive. Available March 1. $380 mo.

This country charmer, small overall but with large rooms, eagerly awaits new owner who likes peace, privacy and solid comfort. Living room with fireplace, big paneled kitchen, sunny dining room, 2 bedrooms, 2 baths. 1 1/2 high acres with swimming pool, lovely trees, running brook. A delightful spot for "private lives!" Offers invited on. $72,500 with countrylike seclusion. Built to take visual advantage of its pretty, low maintenance fenced lot, this intriguing small house has the easy-care convenience of a spacious apartment without the shared walls that can present problems! Brick and wood are used for aesthetic appeal and easy care, while glass walls and high sky and tree view windows make the big cathedral ceilinged master bedroom a gem! Living room with dining ell and fireplace, second bedroom, study and/or third bedroom, two fine tiled baths, central air, good closets and fine condition round out the appeal of this new LIGHT listing.

IN TOWN CONTEMPORARY

"ARCHITECTURE IS FROZEN MUSIC"

Nature created the setting, architect and owners, the house, and together they composed an impressive symphony! Set on a stunning four acre hillside and set off by its many rugged boulders and towering trees, the house was designed to flow with the land. Large areas of bronze tinted glass take advantage of breathtaking outlooks to south and west, small intimate balconies and protective "play decks" bring inside and outside together. Views are everywhere.

The house is spacious—with a living room whose ceiling soars almost three stories high and six or seven bedrooms situated for the ultimate in privacy for parents and guests—yet intimate and warm in its use of materials, color and scale. Throughout the house, from superb kitchen, tasteful baths, dressing rooms, numerous closets, two zone air conditioning to the smallest detail, only the best has been used. This is a home to enthral! all admirers of fine contemporary design.

WHITE CLOUD FARM

A lovely rambling old Colonial (once inhabited by Charles Lindberg) offers everything for country living at its best. The main house offers two living rooms with fireplaces, wide floor boards, a beautiful dining room with one solid wall of built-in storage closets and a large picture window overlooking the park-like garden. The country kitchen is very modernized - full of cabinet space, built-in cupboards, double oven, and built-in Bar-B-Que. There is an enclosed porch, a walk-in greenhouse, a huge library with shelves and a powder room. Upstairs, the Master bedroom is huge with excellent closets, a good bathroom and two more bedrooms with bath. The attic could be converted for more sleeping quarters. Outside is a flagstone patio, beautiful old shrubs and trees, a large Sylvan pool and two-car garage. The guest cottage has 3 bedrooms and good sized living-dining room, kitchen, bath and many closets. This plus barns and outbuildings on 8 acres offered at $197,500.

A HOME FOR ALL SEASONS

This Montgomery Township rancher is the ideal family home in every season. As cold as the winter has been, you can keep warm by the stone fireplace in the living room or Franklin stove in the large family room. The three zone heat gives you the option of controlling the temperature throughout the house. In spring you can enjoy the almost one and one-half acres with fruit trees, including apple, peach, pear and cherry, as well as the sunken rear patio. To all of this add a huge custom kitchen, 3 bedrooms 2½ baths, slate entry foyer, attic, full basement and central air conditioning. Who could ask for more!

On an average...

MORE THAN ONE SALE EVERY DAY!

(In every price range in every municipality in a 15-mile radius).

During the last 12 months, Henderson offices have sold, settled or contracted for the sale of at least one property every working day of the year.

That's why more house owners and more land owners have listed with us than any one else in the Princeton area...by far.

Think about it.

Then please call us and we'll be glad to show you how we do it. And we guarantee our service in writing.

OUT OF EVERY TEN PEOPLE WHO MIGHT WANT TO BUY YOUR HOME ...Only three live around Princeton!

The rest live in other cities and other states. And most local real estate firms have no way to find them.

We do!

We have contacts with buyers from 9,000 cities and towns across the country...instead of just one. We are members of RELO, the country's largest broker-owned network of relocation specialists.

And we are the only area brokers to advertise local houses in these national media —

Town & Country
Holiday House
Previews Annual

New York Times
Wall Street Journal
Philadelphia Magazine

So before you list your home with just a local real estate company, remember the one that has national drawing power, too.

FOR THE EQUESTRIAN: A FANTASTIC 46 ACRE HORSE FARM WITH POTENTIAL AS AN ESTATE NEAR PRINCETON. At present the main residence is divided into five profitable apartments all in excellent condition, but the main house could be made back into a fantastic colonial which it must have been long ago. It has everything you could imagine and most important of all the space to work with. The gigantic barn nearby has many boxstalls, a storage area for hay and a handsome paddock and riding ring. The exceptional land has good frontage and is significantly cleared yet wooded enough for a potential development of exceptional homes in a fine historic area. Come let us show you the possibilities. $185,000

SPACIOUS DUTCH COLONIAL TOWNHOUSE NEAR THE CENTER OF PRINCETON. This charming Dutch colonial duplex is within two blocks of Firestone Library and has potential as a huge in-town residence. Currently set up as two great townhouses it has a living room, dining room and kitchen on each side as well as a huge sunporch which would make an ideal solarium. Upstairs, are four or five bedrooms on each side some of which are on the third floor. Situated on a quiet and charming street where children walk to everything, while their mother gets a break to partake of everything Princeton has to offer. For a sound estimate of its great potential call Firestone before it's too late. $89,500

JUST NORTH OF PRINCETON OVERLOOKING THE BEDENS BROOK VALLEY COME SEE A MAJESTIC NEW CONTEMPORARY WITH A VIEW. This artist's sketch gives a pretty good approximation of what our newest contemporary will be like. Inside you'll find an airy cathedral ceiling in the living room and a massive stone fireplace, a large formal dining room, a relaxing separate family room with a beautiful view, and a convenient eat-in kitchen with easy access to all rooms. In the bedroom wing will be a spacious master bedroom suite with a view and two additional comfortable family bedrooms and a full bath. The single level design is exceptional as is the floor plan, while such features as a dramatic sunken living room should further distinguish this home from any others in the area. Call us soon to review the plans with our excellent builder, or bring your plans and let us impress you with the value we can build for you near or in Princeton. $105,000

SAILING ON CARNEGIE LAKE OR RELAXING ON YOUR OWN PRIVATE PATIO, you'll enjoy living in our newest Princeton listing near the lake. Tastefully decorated throughout from the living room with log burning fireplace to the elegant dining room with French doors to the summer veranda overlooking the brook. This newest Firestone listing has much to offer. Upstairs are three comfortable bedrooms while just a few steps away from the kitchen is a convenient family room with easy access to the out-of-doors. Offered for the first time on a lovely private lot at $82,500

NORTH OF PRINCETON ON PROVINCELINE RD. OVERLOOKING THE VALLEY This handsome two story colonial can be ready for spring occupancy so call us today to see the plans. Inside, there will be a formal entry foyer, a spacious living room, a separate formal dining room, a sparkling modern kitchen with an ample eat-in area with bay window, and a huge sunken family room with raised hearth and easy access to the out of doors. Upstairs, there will be a substantial master bedroom suite, and two other comfortable bedrooms. A substantial fourth bedroom is optional as is a second fireplace at a slightly higher cost. You'll love the floor plan so call us right away. $68,900

BRAND NEW TO THE MARKET: A HANDSOME BI-LEVEL HOME IN A BEAUTIFUL AREA OF MONTGOMERY TOWNSHIP. Inside, you'll find a large living room with picture window, an elegant dining room, a fine eat-in kitchen, a separate bedroom wing of three comfortable bedrooms and a full family bath. Downstairs, there's an ample family room, a huge study or fourth bedroom and a neat full bath so conveniently placed for guests or an in-law arrangement. Priced to sell quickly at $64,000

A SPLENDID HOME IN A PARK LIKE SETTING; SPACIOUS, WONDERFULLY WOODED, FAMILY ORIENTED, AND BRAND NEW TO THE MARKET. You won't believe how beautiful the grounds are of this lovely 4-5 bedroom colonial home, which features an extraordinary in-ground pool and patio area. Inside, you'll find an elegant raised living room, a separate formal dining room, a tastefully paneled family room with built-in bookshelves, and a free standing colonial brick hearth, and a convenient eat-in kitchen with a laundry room and powder room nearby. Upstairs the bedroom layout is excellent with a separate master suite with its own full bath. Complete with a circular driveway, central air conditioning, an AM/FM intercom, and a private park like setting that you'll enjoy all year round. Available for the first time so call us now.

A CHARMING BRICK COLONIAL ON THREE ACRES JUST NORTH OF PRINCETON. This handsome all-brick colonial is situated on a beautiful three acre site at the foot of Sourland Mountain. Inside, you'll find an entry foyer, a living room with fireplace, a large elegant dining room, a separate study and a completely modern kitchen. Upstairs are four comfortable bedrooms and two full baths, the master suite having its own separate bath and shower. A gem of a house in a friendly neighborhood. $68,500

"THE BISHOP'S HILL"

Though few people know this property by that name (thereby hangs a tale!), a great many know it as one of the very loveliest - inside and out - in all of Princeton. Surrounded by masses of flowering dogwood, fruitful apple trees, stunning evergreens, mature landscaping, and edged by old woods, this charming brick and frame home seems to have grown quite naturally on its high hilltop setting. Designed with taste and imagination, the house is a happy combination of beauty and comfort, formal grace and country warmth, traditional and contemporary.

The rooms - entrance hall, living room, dining room, studio-family room, master suite plus 3 more bedrooms, eat-in kitchen, and laundry - range from large to spacious. 4 bathrooms, 3 fireplaces, wide floorboards, fine paneling, bookshelves galore, burglar alarm, furnace humidifier, super storage, 3 car garage, many bow windows overlooking the long view and, frequently, nearby deer - these are some of the aesthetic and practical assets. All this and more, together with a pretty swimming pool, rose garden, and handsome terrace, on 3 1/2 beautifully secluded acres (more land available). Offered at $250,000

WEST WINDSOR

A handsomely designed Colonial house set in a beautifully wooded three quarters acre. The central foyer opens to formal living and dining rooms, a large informal family playroom and country kitchen are beyond, with convenient powder room and laundry area. Upstairs are four bedrooms and two full baths. Convenient country living at it's nicest, for the young and active family.

HOPEWELL TOWNSHIP

In the superb Elm Ridge Park section, a two-story traditional house of brick and cedar shakes. The central entrance foyer opens to spacious living and dining rooms, and kitchen with informal dining area. Beyond is a large family room with fireplace and a private study or office. There are five family bedrooms, one is huge, a veritable childrens dormitory. This house is ideal for the growing, active family, it is priced at

A sleek, contemporary house is now under construction on a 4.5 acre lot with trees and a lovely view.

Imagine breakfasting in a lush, year round subtropical garden...right in your own home. We've seen many a house with inside planters, but never one actually built around a garden. The cathedral ceilinged living room, dining room, kitchen and entry all open directly to this central skylighted garden.

Also on this level is a master bedroom with super dressing room and bath.

Curving steps go down between rocks and foliage to the children's level with three more bedrooms and a bath and a TV room which also opens to the garden.

$125,000

A RENTAL IN PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

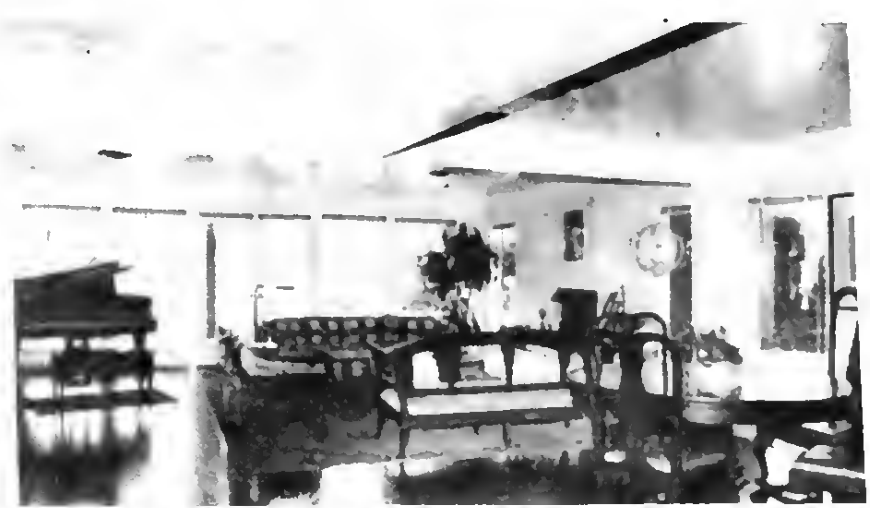

In the convenient Riverside area here is a highly desirable property, a contemporary house offered for rent fully furnished. There are spacious living and dining area, handsome kitchen, private study and four family bedrooms with three baths.

$650 a month

PRINCETON BOROUGH

A convenient, easily maintained multi-level house in a well-established quiet street. Excellent location in the Borough. Living, dining, kitchen and four bedrooms with 1 1/2 baths.

PRINCETON BOROUGH

King's Grant is pleased to offer a superbly built, handsomely modernized house with every feature for the young active family - including location. You will be on the bus line to city and town, and find easy walking or biking to schools, churches, shopping, and Princeton's myriad cultural and athletic facilities.

The house is a one story brick residence of traditional design which has been opened to the rear garden and swimming pool, by walls of double thick glazing. The living and dining rooms flow together to create a magnificently spacious area for entertaining. Also, overlooking the beautifully landscaped rear garden are the private study and the large totally contemporary kitchen with informal eating area. There are three well proportioned bedrooms and a bath for each. -- a particularly convenient and luxurious feature. The study is situated so as to provide a fourth bedroom when needed.

This house is an unusual offering with many superb features which must be seen to be appreciated.

MONTGOMERY TOWNSHIP

With a far reaching view across hills and woods, this property is just over one convenient acre in itself. A brand new cape cod colonial is just now being completed on this lovely site. Princeton's Parents Without Partners Chapter Seeks to Assuage Trauma of Death or Divorce

Divorce or death has ended your marriage ("...and divorce is the death of a marriage").

Man or woman, you're a parent, left alone to be both mother and father to a brood, or left alone to miss them while your ex-mate tries to cope.

Parents Without Partners, Inc. was started, nationwide, in 1951. Here in Princeton, it began 17 years ago when 47 single parents met in the former First Presbyterian Church.

Today, there are 120 members who know that, whether they live in Princeton or East Windsor, Lawrenceville or Montgomery, they are not alone.

The figure of 120, incidentally, seems to reflect the geography of this area. Leona Bothwell, who handles public information for Princeton Chapter (Number 387 of southern regional, New Jersey), says the closer you get to New York, the larger the groups — 600 and 700 members sometimes.

"But here, you have a divorced woman who stays in this little bedroom community with the children," Mrs. Bothwell explains. "It's the ex-husband who takes off for New York City or Philadelphia."

"We gear our activities to the kids — roller skating and ice-skating, picknicking, camping, pool parties in the summer, and often a surrogate father, who doesn't have custody of his own children, will organize a softball game for a bunch of kids, just the way he did when he had his own family around him."

There was a children's Christmas party and people like Mrs. Bothwell who have a swimming pool, will open their homes to the group for big "family" get-togethers. "You do what you did when the whole family was together," she adds.

"You're able to show your

children that other kids are without a parent, too," she has found. "I remember one girl in our group who was most distressed to learn about a family where the father had died, leaving a one-year old. 'Gee, one year old and no father!' this girl said anxiously to her mother, 'That's too young!'"

The embracing nature of the group also means that you don't have to have Thanksgiving dinner in front of your TV or eat turkey alone in a hotel. A few congenial parents - without - partners will band together, and celebrate in somebody's dining-room with all the fixin's.

One-to-One Relationship. "But let's face it," Mrs. Bothwell smiles candidly, "the days of the funeral pyre are gone. Basically, we're all interested in a normal one-to-one relationship, in knowing somebody of the opposite sex. So, sure, we plan things around our children, but we're interested in maybe re-marrying too."

Widowed after 25 years of marriage, Mrs. Bothwell joined Parents Without Partners in 1974. She thinks the commercial singles dances, run for fun, maybe, and almost certainly profit, are sad, sad.

"They are strictly a 'meet market,' and not always on a high level," and she shakes her head. "You go to one and you immediately start eyeing, and maneuvering. I think one of the saddest things I've ever seen is the last dance of the evening. Couples aren't just dancing, they're clutching each other, really in desperation: 'I'm going to bed with her tonight OR ELSE' you can almost hear them saying."

"You don't find this in Parents Without Partners, although most of us would like to find someone."

Meetings are held the fourth Wednesday in every month at 8 p.m. at the Quaker Bridge Inn on Quaker Road. Sometimes, there's a square dance, sometimes a speaker.

How to deal with a child who can't adjust to the broken marriage...what about my income-tax!...how do you know when you're ready to start dating again?...I'm terrified of drugs when I think of my teen-ager!...how can I understand myself better?...what do I do about sex education for my kids? ...should I change careers?

All these topics and others, have been covered by P.W.P. speakers.

"Parents Without Partners is an interim group," Mrs. Bothwell continues, "something is wrong if you stay forever — although there are always perennials who do. It isn't like joining a church or a club, where you may stay for the rest of your life."

"After the trauma of death or divorce, it's a way of getting out and meeting people who speak your own language."

She smiles knowingly, "Everybody has had the WORST husband or wife! And you can tell all about it and say things you'd never say to your friends — who've heard it all anyway!"

P.W.P. Hotline. For moments of desperation, when talking about how awful HE-SHE was isn't quite enough, there is a P.W.P. hotline. "Suddenly, in the middle of the night, you just can't stand it any longer," Mrs. Bothwell shudders slightly, "a man has forgotten how to change a diaper, or you just have this nameless terror. Both men and women use the hot line, and we have half a dozen members who answer it and come to the rescue."

Naturally, the membership would like to see a sturdier balance of men and women.

"I've talked with some men, and they seem to be terrified that they'll find a bunch of clawing women who'll get their talons in and not let go, but I've never seen this happen," Mrs. Bothwell smiles.

"In fact, I think we have some really great women — well-dressed, intelligent, were only an appendage of your husband before, suddenly when you're alone, you're a woman."

"I know women who had never even balanced a check-around our children, but we're now book. Now they're out in the world, working at a job, paying the bills themselves without an irate husband to shout at them about expenses. These women have become PEOPLE, and I think they are nice to know."

"Although....." she says with a pause, "if your husband has left you for somebody else, it's so pathetic to see how a woman rejected like that, thinks she has to prove herself as a woman. You can fall into one-night stands, and that's bad....."

Another kind of man, usually the widower, Mrs. Bothwell has found, wants to marry again right NOW. And often he finds the women, still hurt and smarting, just aren't ready to think of re-marriage, ANGELS IN ANGEL CITY: Miss Scoons (Christine Baranski) and Tympani (Stephan Lang) take the audience on a trip through Angel City in Sam Shepard's new play of that name, opening Thursday at McCarter.

(Cliff Moore Photo)

News Of The THEATRES

....AT McCARTER
New Shepard Play. The characters in "Angel City" are trying to find a conclusion to a film they've made which they regard as the ultimate Disaster Movie. The play, therefore, says McCarter director Michael Kahn, deals with death, with endings.

As the characters search, Mr. Kahn continues, "the Hollywood Success Story becomes a mythical manifestation of the American Dream—which Shepard sees as itself inherently marked for disaster. It is a funny, eerie, tragic, highly theatrical play which contains wonderful language and extraordinarily dynamic visuality."

"Angel City" will have its world premiere this Thursday at 7:30 p.m., and will play McCarter through Sunday, March 20.

Shepard's unusual gathering of oddly-named "visionary beings" includes Miss Scoons, Tympani, a savior-figure called Rabbit Brown, a producer named Wheeler and his crony, Lanx. "Saxophone Player" is Fred Hess, who composed the "Angel City" music, and performs it on stage.

Lighting, which includes a giant neon motion picture frame as large as the stage itself, is by John McLain, and a spare almost surreal set has been conceived by David Jenkins. Laura Crow designed the costumes.

JAZZ, POP....

Folk, Blues....The Bromberg Band is a seven-member combination of fiddles, guitars, mandolins, whistles, flutes, rhythm, reeds and horns. You can find out for yourself about its mix of blues, pop, bluegrass, jazz and folk when it appears in Alexander Hall Saturday, March 26. Take your pick of the 8 or 11 p.m. performances.

David Bromberg, who plays about a dozen different instruments—but especially the bottleneck guitar, mandolin, fiddle and dobro—is widely used as a sideman on other artists' recordings, and may be heard on over 70 different albums. That doesn't count his own.

Although the concerts are in Alexander, tickets will be on sale in the McCarter box-office.

....FROM AMHERST

To McCarter. When Emily Dickinson was 15, she wrote to a friend, "I am growing handsome very fast indeed! I expect I shall be the Belle of Amherst when I reach my 17th year."

News of the Theatres

"The Belle of Amherst," in the person of actress Julie Harris, will come to McCarter for three performances on Monday and Tuesday, April 4 and 5 at 8 p.m. and Tuesday, April 5 at 2 p.m.

Written by William Luce,
"The Belle of Amherst" is based on the life of Emily Dickinson, probably America's most famous female poet. As Emily Dickinson, Julie Harris was on Broadway last season and is on tour this, appearing at the Kennedy Center, in Philadelphia and Boston. Her appearance on PBS television last December, is said to have earned one of the highest ratings ever achieved for a PBS special.

For McCarter's Tuesday matinee, group rates are available. Anyone interested is asked to call Micki Hobson, 921-8370.

"DAY OF THE LOCUST"

From Nathanael West's Novel. "The Day of the Locust" is John Schlesinger's screen adaptation of Nathanael West's famous novella about Hollywood, focusing on the little people who live on the fringes of the movie business.

It will be shown twice at McCarter next Tuesday-7 and 9:30 p.m.—as part of the Movies-at-McCarter series.

This Sunday, in 10 McCosh on the University campus, McCarter will present
"Hearts of the West," with screenings at 7 and 9 p.m.
Tickets for both showings of "Day of the Locust" may be purchased from 10 a.m. next Tuesday, and tickets for "Hearts" from noon until show-time.

In "The Day of the Locust," there is an empty-headed dress extra and sometime hooker, her father, a worn-out vaudeville clown and pitchman, and a middle-aged bookkeeper from the middle west. All are observed through the eyes of a young Yale graduate, fascinated by but detached from, the spectacle.

"Hearts of the West" is a western comedy recalling the Wild days of the '30's in Hollywood. Jeff Bridges, Alan Arkin, Andy Griffith and Bluthe Danner star.

MOTHER, DAUGHTERS

And "Gamma Rays." An embittered mother and her two daughters—and 95-year-old Nanny, who never speaks—constitute the cast of "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds," opening this Friday at 8:30 at Community Players' theatre home at 171 Broadmead.

Mikki Lipsey, who plays Beatrice, the mother, was Elma Duckworth in the Players' "Bus Stop." She has acted with the Concord Players and the People's Theatre in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

In the part of the elder daughter, Ruth, the Players have cast Jane Beard, whom Princeton audiences have seen in Twilight Theatre's "Tartuffe." She has played many parts in productions at George Washington University, Catholic University, the Bethesda Little Theatre and the Washington Shakespeare Festival.

Tillie, the science-minded younger daughter with the marigolds, will be Mata Yaguda, a student at the John Witherspoon Middle School, who was in Street Theatre's
"The Mice Have Been Drinking Again" and "The Bathroom Door."

Nanny is Anne Bredon, who has been in the Players'
"U.S.A.," "Under Milk Wood,"
"R.U.R.," and "The Loves of Cass McGuire."

Leo Cohen is director for
"Gamma Rays" and Carolyn Kidd is assistant director.

Children's Show Planned

Starting in April, young veterans of last year's Street Theatre productions will begin touring the region with a children's show called "Fractured Fairy Fables."

It's a composite of stories for children that have been old and happy favorites for many years. Woven into the adaptations are familiar songs, accompanied by flute and guitar.

School groups or other organizations interested in booking "Fractured Fairy Fables" are invited to call Diane Barlow, executive director of Street Theatre, at 452-6123 during working hours, or 201-521-1773 in the evenings. Correspondence may be addressed to Princeton Street Theatre, 120 John Street, Princeton, N.J., 08540.

The production will play this Saturday and Sunday and again March 11, 12 and 13 and 18, and 19. Sunday curtain-time is 7:30.

"ANYTHING GOES"

At P.D.S. It may not be true that anything goes at Princeton Day School, but the Cole Porter musical will roll happily there for the next few days, presented by the Drama Club and Music Department.

Performances have been scheduled for Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m., Sunday at 3:30 and next Tuesday, March 8, at 8:30.

Herbert McAneny is directing, and Frank Jacobson is in charge of musical direction. Mimi Suarez is the choreographer.
There is a cast of 42.

The six main singing parts have been double-cast. The first-named will play Friday and Sunday and the second on Saturday and Tuesday: Reno Sweeney; Sandra Benson, Jennifer Chandler; Billy Crocker; Jeff Patterson, John Lifland; Moonface; Jon Spiegel, Jeff Hudgins; Hope Harcourt; Betsy Murdoch, Kerry Faden; Sir Evelyn:
David Lifland, John Wallace;
Bonnie; Susannah Rabb, Drew Rosenberg.

TWO FOR ONE
At Intime. Two one-act plays for the price of one is the bargain offering about to be made by Theatre Intime. Pirandello's "The Vise" and Leonard Melfi's "Birdbath" will open in Intime's Murray Theatre this Thursday at 8:30, playing at the same hour and place on Friday and Saturday, and again next week-end from Thursday through Saturday.

In the Pirandello, tension builds through apparently ordinary conversation between a woman and her husband — who may or may not know about the woman's lover. Newcomers to the Intime stage — Sara Laschever and Michelle Hensley — and a pair of veterans — Bill Clark and Eric Zwemer — will star. Duncan Brine, who directed "Midsummer Night's Dream" and played the title role in "Don Juan," is the director.

The second play will be "Birdbath," the story of two lonely people who slowly reveal to one another their inner selves, only to find that neither can help the other. Mitchell Ivers and Nancy Bleemer will be the actors and Arthur F. Miller is the director. Audiences will recall his roles in "Don Juan," "As You Like It," "The Marriage of Bette and Boo" and "Dracula."

FILMMAKER'S WORK DUE
At Public Library. The public library will present the award-winning movie "The Great Steam and Air Race from High Point to Cape May" Tuesday at 2:30 and 8.

Produced by Princeton filmmaker Dick Roberts, the comedy depicts two brothers in competition from the north to the south of the state. They stop off at several New Jersey sites on the way. Mr. Roberts will participate in the evening showing and will share comments with the audience. Everyone is invited to the free program.

TO SING AND TALK
At Montgomery High. Lee Dratfield, singer-actress, and Rita Asch, pianist, will present a musical program entitled "Sing A Song" at Montgomery Township High School on Friday at 1.

In a dialogue accompanying the songs, Mrs. Dratfield will show how popular music has always expressed the gamut of emotions, the highs and the lows, longing for the past and yearning for the future, as well as of our need for other people and love. She will sing songs such as "Feelin' Groovy," "My Cherie Amour," "Time in a Bottle," and a special medley from Broadway.

The program is sponsored by the Montgomery High School Student Council.

PRINCE
Fun With Dick and Jane. George Segal and Jane Fonda star in this frothy but frequently lightweight comedy about a suddenly unemployed aerospace engineer and his wife who turn to larceny to support the luxurious lifestyle to which they have become addicted. A victim of the post-space boom cutback, Segal has no sooner let his wife know about their plight when legions of landscape planners, swimming pool builders and other status-makers to whom they've long been in debt begin repossessing. More upset at being embarrassed in front of the neighbors than by the prospect of poverty itself, Segal and Fonda, following an abortive finance company holdup in which Fonda is taken hostage, decide that crime may be the best way to pay off their debts, and they set out on a madcap series of holdups.

However, an opportunity for some sharp satire on the self-destructiveness of parading one's lifestyle gives way to throwaway gags and surface humor, although some of the one-liners are very funny.

At bottom, this is pure situation comedy and those who don't look for anything more will find it rewarding. Segal, and particularly, Fonda, bring a great deal of charm to their roles.

MUSIC

In Princeton

CONCERT SUNDAY
By Violinist, Pianist, Ralph Evans, violinist, will give a free concert on Sunday at 3 in Woolworth Center, sponsored by the Friends of Music. Mr. Evans will be accompanied by Phillip Evans, pianist.

Ralph Evans began his violin studies at the Vienna Academy at the age of five, later winning prizes in performing and composition, and appearing in recital, as soloist with orchestra and on Education Television. After graduating cum laude from Yale University in 1974, he received scholarships to perform in the masterclasses of Nathan Milstein in Zurich and Zino Francescatti in Montreux, and was awarded a Fulbright Grant to work with Szymon Goldberg in London. In 1975 Mr. Evans toured Europe with great critical success, making recital appearances in London, Paris, Brussels, Vienna and Munich.

Phillip Evans, pianist, and faculty member at the Manhattan School of Music, is a graduate of the Juilliard School, where he also taught and has performed with the Juilliard String Quartet. He has toured the country many times as a soloist and has received many awards. He has had a life-long devotion to the music of Bela Bartok and is considered one of the composer's finest exponents.

The program will be, "Sonata for Solo Violin" by Roger Sessions; "Sonata" by Debussy and "Sonata No. 1" by Bartok.

BARITONE TO SING
At Concert on Campus. The Friends of Music will present Fadlou Shehadi, baritone, in a free concert on Friday, March 11, at 8:30 in Woolworth Center on the University campus. He will be accompanied by Phyllis Lehrer, pianist, and the program will be devoted to works by Faure, Ravel, Debussy and Poulenc.

Mr. Shehadi is a graduate of the Institut de Musique in Beirut, Lebanon and studied with Bernard Diamant in Montreal and in New York with the late Jennie Tourel. In 1975-76 he studied with Pierre Bernac in Paris. He has performed in Canada with the Montreal Opera Company and has appeared locally with the Princeton Symphony Orchestra, Princeton Chamber Orchestra, and the Collegium Musicum. Mr. Shehadi is professor of Philosophy at Douglass College.

MUSICAL RAP READY
For Performance at youth Center. The Young People's Showcase of the Princeton Youth Center will perform for the first time a one-act original musical, "Layin' A Rap." Performances will be held at the Center, 102 Witherspoon Street Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 and again next weekend, March 10-12, at the same time.

The Showcase is under the direction of Gerald D. Folkes, a former Westminster Choir College student currently working as an aid in the High School and looking forward to studying theatre at Rutgers. "Layin' A Rap" grew out of a summer program in Trenton and was originally for kids between the ages of 12 and 14.

The current version, which involves 15 Princeton High School students in speaking and singing roles and some eight others in backstage work, is about teenagers rapping. There is a guy who is a square and a girl whom no one wants to be involved with; there is a drunk who gives sound advice about staying in school.

Admission is $3 for adults, $2 for students with I.D. cards, and $1 for children. For further information, call the Youth Center, 924-0996.

JEAN RITCHIE COMING
For Folk Music Concert. Folksinger Jean Ritchie will appear in concert on Friday, March 11, at 8:15 in Pierce Hall of Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. The concert is sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society.

Ms. Ritchie is a native of Viper County in southeastern Kentucky, from a large family with a great tradition for singing. She has remained one of the most loved and respected folksingers in America for over 20 years. Considered one of the finest traditional singers of an era, her voice remains fresh and new as she sings the songs of her heritage as well as those she has written or collected.

Ms. Ritchie sings many of her songs unaccompanied and also accompanies herself on the Appalachian dulcimer and occasionally on guitar. She has performed in a great many concerts, folk festivals, radio and television programs throughout the U.S., Canada and Europe. She has also made many record albums and is a noted scholar and folklorist, lecturing and participating in many seminars on folk music and folklore.

Admission is $2.50, $2 for students and $1.50 for society members. Memberships will be available at the door. There are no advance ticket sales.

SCHUBERT MASS NEXT
For Musical Amateurs. The next meeting of the Society of Musical Amateurs will be held on Sunday at 4 in the Unitarian Church. Igor Chichagov, director of the Princeton Opera Association, will conduct a reading of Schubert's "Mass in G" for chorus, orchestra and soloists. Singing will be Anne Ackley, soprano; David Parks, tenor;

PCP Auditions Set

Auditions for the Community Players next production, Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," will be held this Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, at 8 in the Player's Theatre, 171 Broadmead.

One of Wilde's best loved plays, this stylized comedy has nine characters with parts for men and women of various ages. The show will be directed by Player's president Judith Forusz. Anyone interested in working on this production is invited to stop by the theatre during auditions for information concerning production crews.

For further information, call 883-7355.

and Steve Owen, bass.

This reading is not a performance, and is open to anyone with modest sight-reading ability and musical interest who would like to participate or attend. There is a small charge for non-members to cover music and refreshments. All students are admitted without charge.

For further information call Mrs. Michael Ramus at 924-4266.

powerful and thought-provoking experience.

Talent surrounds the film, from screen writer Paddy Chayefsky and director Sidney Lumet, both award winners in their own right - to a quartet of outstanding performances by Peter Finch, William Holden, Robert Duvall and Faye Dunaway. Finch, who died recently, and Holden are both up for awards for best actor.

The film itself is a biting look at a television network, UBS (United Broadcasting System), the cutthroat tactics rampant behind the scenes, and the questionable message delivered to its viewers.

Chayevsky and Lument mince neither words nor actions. Although the plot is implausible, they chalk up telling points about human nature and media madness along the way.

As long as it stays within the network studio and offices, the film scores dramatically and comically. The first hour is an outrageous delight. Romance, however, between Holden and Dunaway grabs the spotlight during the second half and the film's hold wanes - but not enough to diminish its tremendous impact.

LAWRENCEVILLE

Silver Streak. A fairly-amusing comedy thriller, "Silver Streak" is a bit too streaky for its own good. It shifts gears too often to be really satisfying.

There are train rides and train rides but was there ever a three-day journey like this from Los Angeles to Chicago that includes a dangerous art swindle, several murders, an FBI manhunt and a train-board romance. It ends in an orgy of destruction when the train crashes into Chicago's heavily-populated terminal.

Gene Wilder is a mild-mannered publisher in dire need of a rest. He gets anything but. Also on board the Silver Streak are Jill Clayburgh, an art historian's pert secretary; Richard Pryor, who just about saves the film with his portrayal of an outrageously larcenous black con man; Patrick McGeehan, a villain who will stop at nothing to get a set of letters proving him an art fraud; and Ned Beatty, a raunchy FBI agent.

There are some very fine and funny moments in Silver Streak; unfortunately, they are the exception rather than the rule.

ART In Princeton

BUSY MONTH AHEAD

For Art Association. The start of the spring session on March 21, a guided day tour to Soho on March 16, and a workshop with watercolorist Nicholas Reale from March 7 through 17 add up to a busy calendar for the Princeton Art Association this month.

The day tour will travel to the Soho district in New York, where guides will show the group the ambiance of the area and prominent galleries such as Andre Emmerich, John Weber, AIR, Castelli, Sonnabend, 420 W. Broadway, O.K. Harris, Susan Caldwell, Paula Cooper, Sculpture Now, Sperone Westwater Fisher, and Volpe will be visited. The trip costs, including transportation to and from New York by charter bus, snack pack, a $3 deductible contribution to the PAA, and gratuities is $10 for members.

For non-members the fee is $11, and includes the above plus a $4 tax-deductible contribution. For further information and reservations contact the PAA at 921-9173 or 921-9177. Mrs. Leona Bothwell is in charge of the March tour: Mrs. Heinz Heinemann is tour chairman.

Nicholas Reale will give two one-week workshops, and members may take either one or both. He will stress composition, design and color and students may work in either abstract or realistic style.

He will discuss new and innovative techniques in the watercolor medium, many of which he has developed. He has used dyes and watercolors together, razor blade techniques, and mixed media collage type watercolors. He will also discuss the use of acrylics and casein paints.

An expanded roster of classes will start on March 17 and run for eight weeks through May 15. Brochures are being prepared for mailing.

ONE WOMAN SHOW SET

At Rider College. "The Lyric Impressions of Helen Gallagher," an exhibition of 40 paintings, prints and drawings by a Herrontown Road resident, will be on view March 1 through April 6 at Rider College. The show will feature still-lives, landscapes and figure subjects. Admission to the exhibit, which will be in the Student Center Art Gallery, will be free.

maybe not even to think of dating quite yet.

Until recently, Parents Without Partners met, as it had from the beginning, at the church. But there was no dancing there, and many members feel that gatherings can be more relaxed, and easier for shy people, now that they are held at the Quaker Bridge Inn.

"It's easier to approach someone, when there's dancing," Mrs. Bothwell believes.

If you're interested in Parents Without Partners, you're invited to write the group at Box 13, Princeton, N.J., 08540, or to call 924-2872, 999-0458 or 297-9110.

Incidentally, you must be a parent and you must provide references who will testify that you are indeed a lone parent without a partner.

EIGHT NAMED AT PHS

As Merit Finalists. The National Merit Scholarship Program has announced the names of eight finalists at Princeton High School. They are Michelle J. Arden, Richard E. Besser, Dorothy Dyson, Monica J. Hargraves, Heather L. Helms, David D. Meyerhofer, Jason Morgan and Richard S. Thompson.

They are among a group of approximately 14,000 finalists across the country, from whom 3,800 Merit Scholars will be announced in April. Announced last fall as semifinalists on the basis of performance on PSAT-NMSQT tests, they have been advanced to finalist standing by fulfilling requirements sent to them in September and will receive a Certificate of Merit.

The Merit Scholarship program attempts to identify and honor academic excellence among U.S. secondary school students and to award scholarships to a sizeable number of able students each year. The program is privately funded, supported by grants received from corporations, foundations, business organizations and colleges, and is national in scope.

"On The River" by Walter M. Teller, 200 Prospect Avenue, has been published by Rutgers University Press. Mr. Teller is a canoe enthusiast whose earlier works include "Joshua Slocum," "Voyages of Joshua Slocum" and "Walt Whitman's Camden Conversations."

This book chronicles the kinship of people, craft and natural wonders through accounts of late 19th and early 20th century voyages by canoe and small boat. The writers, such as Henry Thoreau, Frederic Remington and the poet John Boyle O'Reilly, describe their travels along rivers and lakes from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico.

Along with the descriptions of river communities and peoples, there are contemporary illustrations and maps, some drawn by the canoeists themselves, reproduced from original prints.

Mrs. Nellie Ware of Birch Avenue is the recipient of an award as "Educator of the Year" given by the Garden State School District. Mrs. Ware, who has taught for a number of years in various places including Princeton, presently teaches English at Trenton State Prison where she prepares students to pass the High School Equivalency Examination.

Linda and Mary Federico, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Emilio Federico of 105 Linden Lane, have been named to the Dean's List at Chestnut Hill College, Philadelphia. Both are senior education majors and both earned a perfect 4.0 average during the first semester and are senior education majors. Linda has served as dormitory representative for the past three years, and Mary has been a representative to the Academic Committee.

Harry E. Cauley Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Cauley of 13 Charlton Street, has been named Executive Story Consultant for the new Norman Lear television show, "All That Glitters," the series begins April 18.

He is a graduate of St. Paul's School, Trenton Catholic High, St. Francis College of Loretta, Pa. and The American Academy of Dramatic Arts.

He was formerly a writer on Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman, Maude and ABC's "The Love Boat." As a playwright, he was represented on Broadway with the "Paisley Convertible" and "Let Me Hear You Smile." He has toured as an actor in his two-character musical "Separate Checks, Please," and was the producer/director of the Apple Hill Playhouse in Delmont, Pa. for 13 years.

Mr. Cauley was a member of the special services in the armed forces for two years during the Korean war where he wrote, directed and toured in two productions. He also taught drama at San Bernardino, Cal. College.

Cardell Parker of 110 Herrontown Road has graduated from the University of Louisville with a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

Dr. Syukuro Manabe of 8 Princeton Avenue, a research meteorologist at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory at the Forrestal Campus of Princeton University, has been awarded the American Meteorological Society's second highest honor, the Second Half Century Award. He was cited "for his outstanding contribution to the understanding of the influence of radiative processes on the climate through numerical simulation of the dynamics and physics of the atmosphere."

A native of Japan and a graduate of Tokyo University, Dr. Manabe has been employed by the GFDL since receiving his doctorate in 1958 and made the transition with the laboratory from Washington, D.C., to Princeton in 1968. He is also a visiting lecturer with the rank of professor in the Department of Geological and Geophysical Sciences at the University.

Seven area residents have been named to the Dean's List at Bucknell University. They are Tyrrell C. Axtmann, 272 Hartley Avenue; Heidi J. Baltzer, 536 Rosedale Road; Lee A. Dierdorff, 433 Walnut Lane; Edward Elcher, 396 Terhune Road; James M. Lion, 91 Bertrand Drive; Wendy J. Bowler, 14 Canoe Brook Drive; and from Lawrenceville, Nancy L. News Of Clubs and Organizations

The Princeton Folk Dancers will hold an early "Rites of Spring" Festival on Tuesday from 7:30 to 10:30. Members of the group will be wearing national costumes and there will be live music. Newcomers are welcome to join in the dancing or to watch.

The folk dancers meet every Tuesday at Littlebrook School. Some dances are reviewed each week and many are easy enough for beginners to do.

"A Day on the Barnard Campus" Thursday, March 24, will give Barnard Alumnae of the Mercer County area the opportunity to return with some 200 fellow alumnae to the campus for a day of lectures and other activities. The event is sponsored by the Club Committee of the Associate Alumnae.

on continuing education called "Prospectives on the Current U.S. Economy: A Broad View With A Special Focus on Labor and Women" with three Barnard professors and a class of 1964 alumna who is with the Department of Labor. A career workshop will give those returning to work or entering new job areas an opportunity for reassessing their job interests and career choices.

There will be college classes to audit, a luncheon and panel discussion. An afternoon seminar on "Mathematics as a Tool and as An Art" will be offered as an alternative choice to the career workshop. For further information call Julie Hudson, 924-0412.

The Yale Club of Princeton will present the Whiffenpoofs and The New Blues, the women's singing group, in a joint concert Friday evening, March 11, at 8:30 in the Princeton Day School auditorium.

Admission is $3. Reservations may be made in advance with a check payable to the Yale Club of Princeton and sent to Chauncey B. Ives, Kingston. Admission is also available at the door.

Dr. Martin R. Schached, a Princeton chiropractor, will be the featured speaker at the Monday meeting of the Princeton Alumnae Club of Kappa Alpha Theta. The meeting will be held at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. William Kirby.

Dr. Schached, a graduate of New York University who received his Ph.D. from the Columbia Institute of Chiropractic, has lectured extensively on the related topics of nutrition, exercise and bio-mechanics.

All alumnae are invited to attend. Call Mrs. W. Jeffrey Maiden, 466-2868, for further information.

The League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women will co-sponsor a public meeting on "The United Nations in 1977" Wednesday, March 9, at 7:30 in All Saints' Church, Van Dyke Road. Following refreshments and introductions by both organizations, guest speaker Carol C. Leimas, UN representative for the national organization of AAUW, will discuss the state of the UN today, the role of the United States in the UN system, and the vastly different economic views of the more powerful versus the newly developing countries of the world.

For further information call 466-3289 or 799-2482.

Princeton Chapter No. 459, of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet at the YM-YWCA on Thursday, March 10 at 2. Robert H. Staples of the Public Library will speak on "Princeton Public Library - Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

The Friday Club of the YWCA will meet Friday for lunch at 12:30 in the all-purpose room of the YM-YWCA. Mrs. Juliana McIntyre, a former art teacher, will show slides of Cape Cod Beaches, of swamps and woods and of West Coast nature scenes as well as other parts of the world. She will speak on how the world around us can be a source of enlightenment and inspiration.

Those needing rides may call the YWCA, 924-4825, before 11 a.m. Friday.

Mrs. Daniel Wachtel of Martinsville will demonstrate "Chinese Cooking in an American Kitchen" to the Dogwood Garden Club Thursday, March 10, in the home of Mrs. William H. Aiken. Mrs. Wachtel first became interested in Oriental cooking when she and her husband were stationed in Yokohama, Japan, with the Army. Assisted by Mrs. John Volkman and Mrs. Robert Forrey, she will demonstrate that this cuisine is easy to prepare using standard equipment and ingredients found in local markets or grown in one's own kitchen.

The Princeton Society of Archaeological Institute of America will present Dr. Sybille Haynes speaking on "The Etruscan Woman" Tuesday at 8:30 in the Institute for Advanced Study. An expert on Etruscan art, Dr. Haynes spent many years organizing the large collection of Etruscan objects owned by the British Museum into a coherent exhibition now on view. Last summer she was honored by the Queen as a Member of the Order of the British Empire.

A reception will follow, for which Mrs. E. Baldwin Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes are hosts.

The Princeton Recorder Society will meet on Tuesday at 8 in All Saints' Church, Van Dyke Road. The meeting will feature a demonstration of various Renaissance and Baroque instruments, including crumhorns, courtlauts, rackets, dulcians, viols, rebecs, natural trumpets and tromba marinas. The sounds, musical ranges, and uses of these instruments will be shown.

There will be an opportunity to try these instruments, either during the group playing portion of the meeting, or afterwards. There will be music for recorder players as well.

Princeton Action for Chile will meet this Thursday at 7:30 in McCosh 64 on the University campus. Preparations for a forum on the United States and Latin America, to be held on Saturday, April 16, will be discussed. Workshops currently planned include human rights and political prisoners; the Church in Latin America; multinational corporations; arms sales and internal repression; Congress, foreign policy, and human rights; and the status of women in Latin America.

An urgent campaign on behalf of Fernando Ortiz, a Chilean historian imprisoned in December, will also be discussed. All are invited to bring suggestions. For more information about the work of Princeton Action for Chile, contact Peter Railton, 924-3595.

The Princeton Junior Women's Club will meet Thursday at 8 in the United Methodist Church, Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue. Mrs. Betty Boonin, proprietor of The Greenery, will speak on "Raising a Happy Plant." Interested persons may call 799-3096.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Princeton Elks No. 2129 will hold a Beeline Fashion Show on Sunday at 2 in the Elks Lodge on Route 518, Blawenburg. Spring fashions for men, women and children will be shown as well as jewelry. Door prizes will be given and refreshments served.

A donation of $1 per person is requested. Ticket reservations may be made by phoning the Elk's Lodge.

The Central New Jersey Gesneriad Society will meet Saturday, March 12, at 9:30 a.m. in the student center of Mercer County Community College, room SC 151. John Marrone will discuss the vinning gesneriads. The public is invited.

The club is a newly formed chapter of the American Gloxinia and Gesneriad Society, and new members are welcome. Plant sales and discussions of cultural techniques and problems will be held. For more information or directions, call 466-1066 or (201) 679-8694 evenings before 9.

The Princeton University Art Museum will be the setting for the University League's Treasure Hunt to be held Tuesday from 8 to 10 p.m.

Using written clues, League members as well as others from the University Community will attempt to track down the appropriate painting or sculpture. To play, a background in art history is not needed, but a sense of humor is. At the end of the hunt, Irish coffee will be served and prizes awarded.

For reservations call 452-3650 or 921-8520.

The Newcomers Club of the YWCA will be entertained by Schola Cantorum Thursday at 12:30 at the YMCA-YWCA on Paul Robeson Place.

Schola Cantorum is a 14 member vocal ensemble of the Hightstown-East Windsor Regional Schools conducted by Thomas Cardea. The group has performed widely within New Jersey and is preparing for a tour of Germany this Spring.

For further information call Marilyn Smith, 359-3891 or Marion Ott, 874-5681.

The Keen Age Club of West Windsor will take a trip to Radio City Music Hall Thursday, March 31, to see "Mr. Billion" and the two-part stage show, "Glory of Easter" and "Top Hats and Tales" with the Rockettes and the Symphony Orchestra. Before the performance, the group will have lunch at The Churchill restaurant.

The bus will depart Dutch Neck Church parking lot at 10 and return at 6. Part of the cost will be funded by the Township, and the price for each participant will be $7.50, which will include everything but tips. All West Windsor senior citizens are eligible.

Reservations must be made in advance and are available at the West Windsor Branch of the Mercer County Library. Call Mrs. Lucilla Tilton, 799-0462, for further information.

SPORTS FANS!
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW Brought to you
By John Bernard

Here's an interesting question...Of all the teams in major league professional football, baseball, basketball or hockey today, there are only 3 whose nicknames do NOT end with the letter "S"...Can you name them?...They are the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox of baseball, and the New Orleans Jazz of pro-basketball.

Amazingly, Will Chamberlain in the 1961-62 National Basketball Association season AVERAGED 50 points per game all season!...No one else has ever come close to that average for a season.

What's the highest price anyone ever paid to buy a sports team?...The record was set in 1972 when Robert Irsay bought the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League for 19-million dollars...That still stands the most money for the purchase of any team in history.

I bet you didn't know...that our $10,000 deductible major medical with a $250,000 limit could cost a man age 50, wife age 48 with two children as little as $240 per year.

Tigers Can Repeat as Ivy Basketball Champions This Weekend After Rolling By Columbia and Cornell While Penn Is Beaten

Princeton University's basketball team can become the first Tiger quintet since 1965 to defend an Ivy League championship successfully this weekend if it defeats Brown and Yale in Jadwin Gymnasium. Coach Pete Carril's front-runners are expected to repeat earlier victories over these opponents without difficulty and to earn a place the following weekend in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

The contest with Brown will be on view over Public Television, Channels 23 and 52. Both games will start at 8 o'clock.

Princeton reached its preeminent position on a combination of its ability to play consistently on the road as well as at home, and the fact that Penn, the pre-season favorite, has had all kinds of trouble away from the Palestra. The Quakers needed overtime to win at Providence and New Haven a month ago, and then on Sunday were resoundingly upset by Cornell at Ithaca. It was their first loss to the Red in nearly a decade and in all likelihood cost them a shot at a playoff game with Princeton.

The Tigers, meanwhile, thoroughly dominated Columbia for the second time this winter, triumphing in a televised game, 66 to 49, as they took total charge in the second half. At Ithaca Monday night, they made sure in the first 20 minutes that no upset was lurking in their path, and the 36-21 lead they held at the intermission allowed them to coast with no more than a bump or two to a 69-56 decision.

In New York Sunday night, Lion Coach Tom Penders bought the theory that "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em," and had his young quintet working patiently for the good shot while his defense slowed the Tigers with varying zones which made the Princeton attack even more methodical than usual. As a result, with 11:26 to go the score was tied at 6.

Shortly thereafter, the home team had a 14-10 lead, Princeton was beginning to get into foul trouble with its man-to-man defense and the biggest home crowd in Columbia basketball history (3,400 in its new gymnasium) was looking for an upset. The home team could not, however, beat the Tigers at their own game.

Roma: 8 Points in 5 Minutes. Closed out from the basket by the Lions' zone during the first 15 minutes, Bob Roma began to get a step on Columbia center Elmer Love and that edge made the entire first-half difference. Roma's first basket brought the Tigers from behind to 17-16 (a lead they never relinquished) and when he connected for eight points in the last five minutes of the period, they took a 23-18 lead into the dressing room.

Columbia stayed close for eight minutes after play resumed, and was trailing by no more than 31-28 when Princeton's accelerator hit the floor. In the next seven minutes, the Orange and Black engineered a 24-9 surge that widened the gap to 18 at 55-37, and some of the capacity crowd began to go home early.

Columbia accuracy from the floor kept it close in the first period, the home team connecting on eight of the meager total of 12 shots Princeton allowed it to take. But when the Tigers switched to a zone because the personals began to mount up, the Light Blue had to shoot from farther out and the percentages began to drop sharply.

They peeled off all the way from 66 percent to 44 in the decisive second half. Prin-

Princeton, meanwhile, not only stayed around a steady 55 but hit on 92 percent of its free throws (24 of 26) when the Lions were whistled frequently in attempts to gain possession. The losers made only 11 foul shots, so that 13 points of their final deficit of 17 were in that category.

Frank Sowinski's 23 points were 10 more than the best a Columbia player could manage, while the Lions' leading producer, Ricky Free, was held to 7 — 10 below his average. Roma capped his slow start with 18, giving him a 40-point total in the two games with the New Yorkers.

SPORTS In Princeton

Columbia played without its fine sophomore forward, Juan Mitchell, whose ankle sprain incurred here two weeks earlier kept him out of action. The Lions haven't a senior on their squad, and will be better next year, but the 85 points a game they have been managing against other teams aren't there when they play Princeton. Between now and next December, Penders will have to teach them something more than run-and-gun basketball.

Foul Shots Decisive. Cornell, too, tried to play Princeton's brand of defense and paid the price when the Tigers got 23 points at the line to just 2 for the home team. Three of the losers fouled out before the final buzzer, and the monumental edge in free throws completely negated the fact that Cornell with 27 field goals had four more than the Orange and Black.

After the Red's opening basket gave it its only lead of the contest, Princeton ran off a 17-4 burst that virtually decided matters in the first ten minutes of action. Slaughter was in early foul trouble but all else — including a series of backdoor layups — was going well and the Tigers rolled to their 20th consecutive victory over the Red in a series that a decade ago was relatively close.

Sowinski's 20 points paced everybody, with Bill Omeltchenko playing a major role when he contributed 19 for a career high. Roma joined them in double figures with 14.

Princeton is now 19-4 on the season, can run its winning streak to 12 by Saturday night and its domination of the Ivy League to 34 victories in its last 35 games.

This weekend's opposition comes to Jadwin Gym with identical marks of 6-18, and to carry the image a bit further, have split their own series. Of the two, Brown is probably slightly the better because of the presence of the Ivy's leading scorer, Brian Saunders. Averaging 20 points a game, he was, however, held by the Tigers at Providence to 8 last month.

The Bruins' 6-4 forward, Chuck Mack, is among the league's top point-producers with an average around 15. Coach Jerry Alaimo is short on individual ability but has a fair degree of depth and tends to substitute freely. The Tigers won the first game, 70-52, after Penn had been forced into overtime by the Bruins the previous night.

Yale, averaging less than 60 points a game, plays a sticky defense in an effort to keep its opponents within sight, and forced Penn into double overtime at New Haven before losing by 3. The Blue lacks height but 6-4 Cornell Cooper is among the league's best rebounders.

Princeton won, 56-42, at New Haven, for its seventh in a row over this opponent. As is the case at Yale in so many sports except football, basketball is perennially below the .500 mark and hasn't known a winning season in the last 10.

ONE TO REMEMBER

As Tigers Tie Cornell. From November 20 to February 26 is a long time, made longer by news of road games lost by margins ranging as high as 8-1 to Dartmouth at Hanover, 11-0 to Cornell at Ithaca and 11-2 to Brown at Providence. So when Princeton's hockey team, a 4-3 overtime victor against Yale in Baker Rink five days before Thanksgiving, played league-leading Cornell to a 6-6 tie Saturday, the faithful Rink Rats enjoyed themselves hugely for the first time in more than three months.

Ability on goalie Fred Cherne's part to kick out 44 shots — several of them in the sudden-death session at point-blank range — was a major factor in the unexpected deadlock. So was the steady barrage of 41 shots that Princeton put on Steve Napier, one of the East's leading goalies with a 3.78 goals against average. Interestingly, of nearly 200

'The Tigers of Princeton:' an Evaluation Of 106 Years of Football at Old Nassau

It's quite possible that the best moment to bring out a book on the history and traditions of Princeton football is at a time when no one knows how long the current depression in the sport here will last. For those who have watched with sorrow during the current decade - and may not find surcease until it is over - "The Tigers of Princeton" produces a happy blend of nostalgia and pride.

The 402 pages detailing much of the history and a great deal of the color of 106 years of Princeton football is absorbing reading, particularly so because author Jay Dunn has researched into print innumerable facts that the most avid sports fan will learn for the first time. When Palmer Stadium was opened in 1914, the cleats of Dartmouth and Princeton players pounded across turf similar to that used on a putting green...with fourth down and the ball less than a yard away from the Princeton goal line, the Tigers' 21-18 lead over Chicago in the famous 1922 game was preserved because the Big Ten team shifted twice seeking to confuse the Orange and Black, confused itself instead, and Pink Baker shot through to nail the unprotected ball carrier for a two-yard loss...same day that Dick Kazmaier learned he had been named to the Associated Press All-American team as a junior, the University notified him he had lost his scholarship because of inadequate academic standing.

Game detail that refreshes the memory through the years is delightfully enlivened with lore such as this, a highly valid reason for publishing yet another book on Princeton's role on the gridiron. Welcome, too, are the many quotes that Dunn has obtained from players and coaches of bygone years, comments that in retrospect provide a whole new dimension to a memorable occasion - such as the 20-0 upset in 1933 of Columbia's eventual Rose Bowl victors, or the even more astonishing 17-14 triumph over Penn's nationally-ranked 1946 team.

Jay Dunn (who went to Rutgers and writes many of the lead sports pieces for The Trentonian) has done a remarkable job of capturing the spirit that for better than a century has permeated Princeton football. While much of what he writes will have special meaning for anyone who has watched the action unfold in Palmer Stadium, there is more than enough in "The Tigers of Princeton" to interest those who enjoy a delightfully detailed look at the development of college football from 1869 to the 1970s.

games played by Division I teams this winter, this was only the third tie.

The Tigers never led, but drew even at 2 before the first period ended and again at 6 in regulation time, after they had left the ice with one round to go down by 6-4. Biggest factor in their steady ability to score was center Trevor Kilburn's hat trick, one of his goals coming when the visitors were a man long. A sophomore from Winnipeg, Kilburn has now scored ten times in the last five games, four of them in the Tigers' 8-3 conquest of Yale at New Haven.

The only goal scored against Cherne on which he could be faulted was the first - a stuff shot that was brought from behind the cage and jammed between his skate and the post when he lost track of the puck. As usual, he could have used more help than he got on defense, but the six-goal outburst his teammates achieved - their second highest of the season - did earn them a split for their long night's work.

Tigers Trail Five Times. Kilburn's first goal, climaxing a power play at 12:44 of the opening round, erased the first of five Princeton deficits on the board, and after the Red had gone ahead again on a power-play marker of its own two minutes later, Captain Bill Tresham scored for Princeton at 18:21. Indication of the closeness of the evening's battle was the fact that both teams put 11 first-period shots on goal.

Cornell's 3-2 lead at 3:26 of the second period lasted just 28 seconds, as first line wing John Van Sieten banged in a rebound from Pete Delorey, a freshman defenseman. But this round was largely Cornell's, the visitors adding three more, offset only partially by Kilburn's second. This was his shorthanded effort, a breakaway as he got possession at his own blue line and beat Napier with a wrist shot high in the right corner. The play earned him a standing ovation.

From 19:39 of this period until the end of the game, Cornell did not manage to score again, Cherne contributing a number of acrobatic saves. The junior goalie moved into a starting role when Mike O'Leary, a senior, injured his foot and his capable play will stand the Orange and Black in good stead next winter.

The Tigers narrowed the gap to 6-5 at 7:41 of the third period when Kilburn notched the hat trick. Seven minutes later, they drew even when freshman wing Joe Fero fed Barry Wihak behind the cage and the junior forward from Melville, Saskatchewan, circled in front for a quick jab that Napier could not handle. Both teams came close to a score in the final six minutes of regulation time and in the extra session - Kilburn very nearly getting his fourth in the overtime round - but the result went into the books as the first tie in the series with Cornell that began in 1901.

Penn was on the schedule Tuesday night and Boston College will be here Saturday at 7:30 to end the season. The Eagles, assured of a berth in the playoffs, have not lost to Princeton since 1967.

HILL IS VICTOR in PDS Tournament. Hill School's consistently strong hockey team won the Princeton Day hockey tournament last weekend in convincing fashion, beating Lawrenceville, 5-2, Friday and Williston School, 9-1, in the finals Saturday afternoon.

For Princeton Day, it was a disappointing finish to a long season, as the Panthers dropped a 6-3 decision to Williston Friday, and then lost 4-1 to Lawrenceville in Saturday's consolation round. The two losses gave PDS a 5-10 mark for the season.

In each case, the Blue and White fell into the same pattern that had plagued it most of the season. Playing flat and uninspired hockey at the beginning, the Panthers fell behind early, but never could catch up when they began to play better midway through the game. Both Williston and Lawrenceville jumped out to 3-0 leads, before PDS woke up.

Williston led 1-0 at the end of the first period, and added two more in the second before Mark Zawadsky tallied to make it 3-1. Williston again put the margin up to three, but with time running out in the period, Skip Guerin cut the deficit to two.

If the period had ended at that point, the Panthers stood a good chance of coming back in the third, but Williston wasted little time in scoring its fifth goal and the momentum switched back to the visitors. The teams traded goals in the third, Mike Shannon scoring for PDS.

"We were flat and unlucky," observed PDS coach Harry Rulon-Miller, adding that he felt the teams were about even in terms of manpower. Williston scored on three break aways, twice when a PDS defenseman

PDS Wins Fourth Consecutive State Title With 58-50 Victory over Pennington Prep

Each of the two times Pennington defeated Princeton Day in basketball this season, it may have appeared that the result was expected. After all Pennington had a superstar in Bob Potts, plus a veteran team, and they weren't losing to anybody else, except Princeton High. So when the time for the third match-up came around, this time for the championship of the State Class B title, Pennington, with a record of 25-1, was the natural favorite to wrest the crown away from PDS. It all made perfect sense, if you overlooked a couple of factors present in the first two meetings.

When the two teams met in the semi-finals of the Peddie tournament in early December, Randy Melville was still sub-par coming off his knee injury, and the team had not had enough experience in working together as a unit. The style of play Taback likes to use takes some time to master, and he had only two members from last year's team returning. Thus PDS lost, 47-36.

A month and a half later in the Pennington Gym, PDS lost again, 58-50, but played without one of its big men, Andy Sanford, out with the flu. When you play Pennington you need everyone healthy.

Victory Not Surprising. Last

caught an edge and fell down. The winners took 18 shots, PDS 17.

The following day, another flat start cost the Blue and White three goals in the first period against Lawrenceville. The second period was scoreless, thanks mainly to the fine goaltending of Jeff Johnson, who turned away a heavy barrage of shots. Johnson received one of two Sportsmanship Awards, voted by the team coaches and referees.

Lawrenceville increased its lead to 4-0 in the third period, but goalie Chris Burchfield lost his bid for a shutout with six seconds remaining when Rob Olsson scored. Olsson's shot was only one of 13 PDS could muster, while Lawrenceville had 30.

Saturday in the Peddie gym, PDS had a strong Melville, everyone healthy, and two and a half months of experience in pressure situations, and the not too surprising result was a PDS victory, 58-50. This isn't to say the Panthers were the better team all season long, but certainly the equal of Pennington in a one-game match-up.

The teams were evenly matched in the first quarter, PDS coming out on top by one, 17-16, but Pennington had a big problem when Potts collected his third foul with 24 seconds remaining in the period.

He was forced to sit out the second quarter, and during that time, the Panthers increased their lead to eight points, their eventual margin of victory. PDS led 33-25 at the half.

Potts returned in the third period, but his presence did not change things. The Panthers hung on to a slim lead most of the period, and then increased it to 12 in the fourth quarter.

Press Works Briefly. At this point, Pennington threw up a full court press, that brought some temporary success cutting the lead down to six again, as the Panthers turned the ball over twice in a row. However, Jim Bartolomie hit a key layup to raise the lead back to eight, and the Panthers survived.

Showing how much he was missed in the earlier game, Sanford scored 14 points, grabbed several rebounds and played great defense. PDS had two others in double figures, Mike Walters with 11, and Carl Hill with 10. "Everyone of the starting five was the key man at one point or another," Taback commented.

For Potts and Pennington, it was a bitter pill, marking the third year in a row they have lost to PDS in the finals. Perhaps Potts wanted it too much once he got on the court, he did everything else in his years at Pennington, except bring them a state championship.

The victory raised the Panthers' record to 18-5, just two games under last year's 20-3 mark, but what a difference. All that was expected of last year's team, whereas this year's was much more of a surprise.

Never one to become complacent, Taback is already looking forward to improving next year's schedule. He hopes to replace some of the weaker prep school teams with high school entries from this area, such as Ewing, Steinert, Notre Dame and Hopewell Valley.

gym against Freehold Borough.

At 6, the Princeton High School girls basketball team was scheduled to play either Somerville or Red Bank in their first NJSIAA test.

With or without Moore in the lineup, (he sat out the last two games, both of which PHS lost, for personal reasons) the immediate reaction by PHS followers will be that the Little Tigers should win Wednesday against Freehold, which edged Allentown, 77-75, Monday night in an NJSIAA contest to earn the right to face PHS.

There is overwhelming support from the figures. Freehold has won less than half its games — 12 of 25. It was defeated in regular season play by Allentown and Allentown, in turn, was buried in December by PHS in its third regular season game, 93-55. Those 93 points were the Little Tigers' high for the season.

Anything Can Happen. Such talk gives Trotman the jitters. "In a state tournament so many things can happen I'm even afraid to think about it. It seems the worse the team we play, the better they play against us."

Still etched in Trotman's memory are the past three seasons when PHS was the pick to win its first tournament game and in all three PHS lost. In each of the last two years it was upset by a single point.

So Trotman is taking nothing for granted, even though the Little Tigers are seeded second in the Central Jersey Group 2 division behind South River.

If anything, the season has started to turn sour for PHS. In its first 15 games it was 15-1 and was on top in the Colonial Valley Conference — its only loss to Hopewell Valley.

Two West Windsor Wrestlers in Regional Finals But Princeton High Is Unexpectedly Eliminated

Chris Holcombe, West Windsor 170-pound wrestler, and teammate John Houtenville (122 pounds) are among five wrestlers from Mercer County who will advance to the NJSIAA Region 5 matches to be held Friday and Saturday at the Hunterdon Central Field House in Flemington.

They will be joined by Karl Ray (141) of Ewing, District 17's only champion from Mercer County, heavyweight Scott Allen of Ewing and Chris Cantwell, 101-pounder from Notre Dame. All five advance to Region competition because both first and second finishers in each District weight class qualify.

Princeton High School failed to qualify a single wrestler. Dave Wilson, 135-pounds, and Joel Schulman (115) both won their consolation matches to finish third. The big surprise for PHS occurred when its team captain, Jim O'Grady, seeded first in the 158 division with a 17-1 record, was upset in the quarter finals, losing a 4-1 decision to unseeded Mike Tintle of North Hunterdon. O'Grady had defeated Tintle, 8-0, in a regular season match.

Hunterdon Central dominated the District 17 matches, winning eight of 12 championships, and amassing 191 team points. North Hunterdon captured three crowns and earned 123 points. Ewing's Ray won the other. Voorhees was third in the team standings with 53 while West Windsor, which had placed seven wrestlers in the semi-finals, was fourth with 45.

Ewing had 26½, Hopewell Valley 20½, Notre Dame, 20, Lawrence 16½, Princeton 11 and South Hunterdon 4.

Not Good, Not Bad. For WW coach Ken Bernabe, who had guided his team to the Colonial Valley Conference championship, a team which had won its last ten in a row to finish 13-3, the Districts were a bitter-sweet event.

"It was our best performance ever in a district tournament...and yet it was a disaster. It was like lukewarm — not good, not bad — but it leaves a bad taste in your mouth."

WW had three goals in the districts, Bernabe reported: place two in the championship round (it succeeded in that); place third in the standings (it lost that chance when five wrestlers placed in the consolation round but all five lost); and to win one district championship.

The latter went down the drain when Holcombe, its best prospect, who entered the 170-pound class as the top seed with a 19-0 record, lost 3-1 to Hunterdon Central sophomore Scott Henderson.

"Chris wrestled very cautiously — and he suffered for it," commented Bernabe. There were no takedowns in the match and each wrestler managed an escape to tie the bout at 1-1. Henderson won the match when he took Holcombe down.

In the quarter finals, Holcombe was losing before coming back to win, 8-5, and in the semis, he defeated South Hunterdon's John Foy, 5-3. In a regular season match, he had manhandled Foy, 17-1. "Chris did not have a good tournament," said Bernabe.

Houtenville was pinned by Tom Andrews in 3:05 in the championship round. Andrews, seeded first, entered the Districts with a 22-0 record. He was ahead 12-2 when he scored his pin.

Houtenville Overpowered. While not conceding anything, Houtenville knew what he was up against. "Andrews completely overpowered him," said Bernabe, who predicted that the Hunterdon Central standout will emerge as one of the top four wrestlers in the state in his weight.

What really left Bernabe shaking his head was his team's 0-5 performance in the consolation round.

Dave Stager (129) lost a 13-7 decision to Tom O'Neill of Lawrence. Ernie Rich (135) was pinned by Princeton's Wilson; Scott Peet was blanked, 7-0, by Hopewell Valley's Ken Verbeyst; Dodd Johnson (148) was decisioned, 7-5, by Jeff Burd of Voorhees and George Noble (158) was defeated, 8-2, by Steve deDufour of Hopewell Valley.

Princeton blitzed. After 129-pounder Bob Ayling was pinned in the opening round, Princeton High was blitzed in the quarter finals. After the final bell had sounded, only Wilson and Schulman were left, although Keith Wadsworth (170) and Karem El-Meligi (188) just missed. Wadsworth lost, 8-7, to Foy of South Hunterdon and El-Meligi was shaded, 1-0.

Schulman topped Trey Peck of WW, 4-3, and Wilson won, 4-0. In the semis, Schulman was pinned by top-seeded Jack Holthaus in 39 seconds.

Wilson's semi-final match with Pete DeBoer was much closer. Wilson entered the Districts seeded second with a 15-2-1 record; DeBoer third with a 15-4-1 mark. With 10 seconds to go their match was tied 6-6, said PHS coach Tom Murray. Wilson had DeBoer in a cradle.

But DeBoer was able to break the cradle hold, reverse Wilson for two points and get him in a near-fall for three more points. The match ended 11-7. "Dave missed by ten seconds going to the Regionals; that's how close it was," said Murray. "It was a helluva match."

In the consolation round, Wilson pinned Rich of WW and Schulman lost a 5-0 decision to Keith DiMatteo of Hunterdon Central.

As for O'Grady's upset loss at the hands of Tintle, Murray commented that his team captain has been taking antibiotics for a long time for infected tonsils. "He didn't have a chance to work out until the day before we went up there."

But Murray added that he was not offering this an "any lame excuse. He didn't wrestle well at all. It's just one of those unfortunate things. No one feels any worse about it than Jim does."

The wipeout did not bother Murray. "Putting it in its proper perspective," he said, "we got a lot out of the tournament." From his starting lineup, only O'Grady graduates. The attitude among the squad that will return next year is very good and Murray added that most will attend wrestling camps during the summer.

"We should have one of our better teams next year," he predicted. The Little Tigers finished 6-9 this season.

In its last eight starts, the Little Tigers won only half, losing to Hopewell Valley a second time and then was upset by a so-so Lawrence team to lose a share of the CVC crown. Friday's loss to visiting Steinert marked the first time PHS had lost two in a row.

The Little Tigers ended regular season play with an 18-5 mark, tying the most games ever won in a season by a Trotman coached team.

The Blahs. Trotman attributed the Steinert loss to "lack of incentive" and "late season blahs". Although the shooting was equal, Steinert hitting 21 of 53 shots and PHS 21 of 52, the difference was on the boards.

There the Spartans enjoyed a 36-29 margin. "They outrebounded us terribly," conceded Trotman.

Another puzzlement to Trotman has been the play of Junior Oldham. The 6-4 senior, who has received a half dozen scholarship offers including one from Marquette, entered the contest needing 45 points to reach 1,000.

Junior had to work hard to finish with 10 points, as his teammates were unable to consistently get the ball to him inside where Oldham is most effective with a short jumper. "He's been playing with a lackadaisicalness lately; I'm trying to figure out the situation," said Trotman.

The Spartans (10-11) began the final period, up 42-38, but PHS soon tied the score at 42, erasing what had been a seven point Steinert lead at one point.

Steinert, to its credit, said its coach Jake Tarr, refused to fold. Powered by two jumpers by Stan Prusik, the visitors went on an eight point tear to go up, 56-48.

Steinert's junior center John Eberling led all scorers with 23 while Prusik added 15. Todd Blackledge was high for PHS with 14. Oldham's 10 was his lowest production in 23 games this year. He still needs 35 to reach the coveted 1,000 plateau.

HUN CLASS A CHAMP

For First Time. Hun Class A Prep King. For the first time ever, the Hun School basketball team won the Class A Prep School championship Saturday when it defeated Lawrenceville, champion for the past three years, 78-60. Hun's last state prep title had come in 1965 when it defeated Newark Academy but as a member of the B division.

Hun had advanced to the finals by virtue of an exciting 58-56 win over Peddie on a 20-foot jumper by Ron Payton with two seconds left. The two victories were the 17th and 18th for Hun, which has now won 14 of its last 16.

Hun (18-7) has a chance to add more laurels before the season is over. This Wednesday afternoon at 3:30, it was scheduled to journey to rival Pennington School for a showdown battle with the Red Raiders. At stake is the regular season championship of the Penn-Jersey League in which both are undefeated.

If Hun gets by Pennington (25-2), which was upset Saturday by Princeton Day School for the Class B state prep crown, all it means, said Hun coach Dave Leete, "is that we get to be the host school for the league championship playoff."

Hun and Pennington are in the four-team playoff but Leete reports that three or four teams are tied for the last two berths.

On a Streak. "We're on a fairly good streak," admitted Leete after his team had stopped Lawrenceville.

Trailing early, Hun clicked for 18 consecutive points to take a 14 point lead. In the third period the losers went to a press which bothered Hun. They closed to within four, 54-50, but then had to take the press off when they got into foul trouble. "After that, we were able to come back," said Leete.

Ron Payton, Hun's junior center, was superb. He hit on 14 of 17 shots from the floor, ending with 34 and 21 rebounds. He, Ken Duvin (17) and John Brady (13) combined for 64 points to outscore the entire Lawrenceville squad by four.

Leete also cited the defensive play and board work of three reserve players who came off the bench to help forge the win — Pete Black, Tim Teel and Craig Darvin.

1651 For Payton. Payton now has 1651 points. Leete predicted that by the end of the season, the 6-4 resident from Trenton will need only 250 to 300 more to reach the 2,000 level.

Lawrenceville (12-9) had reached the finals for the fourth straight year when it defeated Pingry in the opening round, 65-40. The victors were led by Princeton's Dana Nini who contributed a career-high 21 points.

As it was, Hun nearly didn't get to play Lawrenceville. Winner of just six games this season, Peddie hadn't figured on giving Hun the spirited battle that it did.

However, with 2:30 left to play, the Falcons were ahead 55-52, but jump shots by Payton and Brady brought Hun even at 56 with 2:03 left. Then, after gaining possession, Hun went into a freeze. It called time with eight seconds left.

"They had the guy to go to in the clutch," said Peddie Coach Al Lozier. Although surrounded by three Peddie players, Payton managed to get his 20-footer off. It was his 22d and 23rd points.

Payton was 10 for 17 from the floor while Brady, 7 for 11, added 19. Darvin's four points all came in the decisive fourth period for Hun.

HUN RIPS GIRARD

In Tournament Tune-Up. In what was little more than a tune-up for action in the Penn-Jersey League playoff for the league championship which begins this week, the Hun School basketball team Monday ripped Girard, 79-49. Originally scheduled during January, the game had been postponed during the energy crisis.

Hun's Ron Payton inched closer to the 1700 career mark with 16 points and added nine rebounds. John Brady and Bob Kwiatkoski each had 13 and Tom Dillione, 10, for the victors. Ned Jenkins of Girard accounted for half his team's points with a game-high 25.

Hun upped its record to 19-7; Girard's fell to 4-10.

36 GAMES SCHEDULED

For Princeton in Baseball. A 36-game baseball schedule for the 1977 season, including six in the first Central New Jersey Baseball Classic, and a full slate of 14 Eastern Intercollegiate League contests, has been announced by Princeton Athletic Director Royce N. Flippin, Jr.

The Tigers will open their season here on March 21 when they take on Providence in the first round of the Central New Jersey Classic, which is being co-hosted by Rutgers and Princeton. During the tourney, the three host teams will play Providence, Southeastern Massachusetts and New Hampshire twice apiece.

Other non-EIBL home foes include Rutgers, Manhattan, L.I.U., Wagner, Fairleigh-Dickinson, Trenton State, St. John's and Lafayette. On the road, Princeton will meet Fordham, Seton Hall, Montclair State, Villanova, Temple, Rutgers and Rider.

In the Eastern League, the Tigers are scheduled for single games on Clarke Field with Penn and Dartmouth and doubleheaders with defending champion Columbia and Harvard. The league road action will have Princeton in single games at Brown and Army and in twinbills at Yale, Navy and Cornell. Overall, the Tigers will play 20 of their 36 games at home.

Princeton, under the direction of second year coach Len Rivers, is coming off a 22-17-1 season which included a second-place finish in the Eastern League and participation in the ECAC Mid-Atlantic Regionals. Rivers has lost eight starters from last year but is hopeful that the returnees and a good crop of performers from the J.V. contingent, 12-4 last year, will get the Tigers to the playoffs once again.

The Schedule: March 21, Providence; 22, SE Massachusetts; 23, New Hampshire; 24, Providence; 25, SE Massachusetts; 26, New Hampshire; 31, at Fordham.

April 1, Penn; 2, Columbia (2); 4, at Seton Hall; 6, Rutgers; 6, at Montclair State; 13, at Villanova; 14, Manhattan; 15, at Brown; 16, at Yale (2); 16, L.I.U.; 23 at Navy (2); 26, Wagner; 27, at Temple; 29, Dartmouth; 30, Harvard (2).

May 2, at Rutgers; 3, at Rider; 6, at Army; 7 at Cornell (2); 9 F.D.U.; 11, Trenton State; 13, St. John's; 14 Lafayette.

PHS FIVE SPLITS

In Girls Basketball. Led by Tina Kahny's 20 points and four assists, the Princeton High School girls basketball team defeated Lawrenceville, 54-43.

Amy Shillaber added 12 points while Peggy Wood and Judy Grisham combined for 16 rebounds. PHS shot 25 for 56 and committed 21 turnovers; Lawrence hit on 20 of 41 shots and was guilty of 31 turnovers.

Earlier, despite 19 points and nine rebounds from Denise Liverman, the Little Tigers lost a 55-40 decision to undefeated Notre Dame. Wood had six points and pulled down 10 rebounds.

Caren Castaldo of Notre Dame led all scorers with 23 points. She connected on 11 in the second period when the Irish poured in 25 points to take a 33-24 halftime lead.

MEETING SCHEDULED

By Tennis Groups. The Princeton Community Tennis Committee and the Youth Tennis Foundation will hold their annual meeting Tuesday, March 8, from 7 to 10 in the Community Park School auditorium.

Highlighting the evening will be two films, "U.S. Open 1976" and "Tennis Mothers." In addition, the agenda will include announcement of new Leader Corps members, spring teaching assignments, awards for all area players who have received 1977 rankings and plans for the 1977 tennis season. The public is invited.

REGISTRATION BEGUN

For Soccer. The Princeton Soccer Club is accepting applications for its spring program which begins Easter week-end and will run eight consecutive Saturdays through the end of May.

The Club offers those in the Princeton area the opportunity to participate in a low key instructional program. Participants will be assigned to a league based on year of birth and play on a team of comparable age and ability. There is an All-Star program for those of exceptional skill.

Previous participants in the club should soon receive information in the mail. Others may obtain information sheets and applications from their school's soccer coach or athletic director or at one of the nearly 40 stores and businesses in the town sponsoring a team.

There are two days for formal registration: Saturday, March 19, and Saturday, March 26, both at Baker Rink from 9 to 12 noon each day. Those unable to register in person may do so by mail to The Princeton Soccer Club, P.O. Box 257, Princeton. For further information, call 921-1024.
